Aki Kotzamichalis, who rivals Alex Marshall as one of the biggest soccer players Australia has had, will play in the national team that defends the Merlion Cup in Singapore from October 14 to 28.

Kotzamichalis, 18, is 6ft. 5 ins. tall and weighs 16 stone (100 kg). He plays as sweeper for his club, Springvale City, which has won the championship of the Victorian Metropolitan League First Division.

It is the first time a Metropolitan League player has been chosen to represent Australia at this level.

Marshall, who played for Polonia, Richmond and Moreland, claimed after consulting the Guinness Book of Records, to be the biggest player in the world. He too weighed 16 stone, but he was an inch taller than Kotzamichalis.

Marshall, now in Poland, played against Kotzamichalis a few times when Kotzamichalis was younger. "I wasn't as tall then, but I remember that Alex towered above everyone," Kotzamichalis said.

The big defender readily admits that opponents are frightened just by looking at him. "My size puts them off, and of course it's an advantage. They don't like to tangle with me," he says.

He started with the South Melbourne Hellas juniors, but moved to Port Melbourne as Australia's squad for the Merlion Cup in Singapore from October 14 to 28: A. Franken, F. Farina (Canberra Arrows); M. O'Shea (St. Geo. Budapest); R. Vlietstra, A. Bundalo (Wollongong); H. Tredinnick, J. Gregson (Melita Eagles); R. Miranda (B.U. Juventus); C. Kalantzis (Syd. Olympic); J. Kanesoulis (SM-Hellas); J. Panagis (WA-Hellas); A. Kotzamichalis (Springvale C.); W. Spink, S. Ingham, A. Bernal, R. Hooker, P. Jones (A.I.S.). On standby: K. Wifhart (Brisb. City); R. Maier, M. Jones (Newcastle); R. Stewart (Brisb. Lions); G. Arnold (Syd. Croatia); M. Runje, D. Sharp (A.I.S.), R. Markovac (Melb. Croatia).

an under 11 player, and remained there in the company of Mike Petersen (Heidelberg-Alexander) and Andrew Zinni (Juventus) up to senior level, winning three league titles and a runners-up medal, before switching to Springvale where he has been in the senior team for two years.

During that time he represented Victoria at under 13 (twice), under 14, 15 and 16 levels and was in the State youth team that won the past two national championships.

Apart from his obvious physical qualities, Kotzamichalis also reads the game well and distributes the ball skilfully. His height has enabled him to score five goals from corners for Springvale this season.

He rates former Australian international Hans Petersen as the best coach he has had.

"At Port Melbourne, Mr. Petersen taught me discipline and developed my skill. When I was young, I used to just boot the ball up the field, but Mr. Petersen encouraged me to push it around. Tim White, the Victorian State coach, also helped me a lot, as did another former State junior coach, Ian Petherick, and also Ian Greener, who's coach of Springvale."

Kotzamichalis, a first-year accountancy student at Prahran College, hopes to join a National League club. He follows Hellas, but says he would join any club at which he felt comfortable.

He was quick to praise his former Springvale team-mate, goalkeeper Mirko Runje, now with the A.I.S., who is on standby for the Merlion Cup squad.

"He's the best goalkeeper in Australia at youth level. He's got total control of his area, he's a big boy at 6ft. 2ins., and he's solid as well," Kotzamichalis said.

The squad which goes to Singapore next month will be led by national youth coach Jim Shaulder, who picked the players in conjunction with Socceroo supreme Frank Arok.

Five standby players have been named in case others are unable to make the Singapore trip. Those whose clubs reach the National League finals won't be able to go because the finals are at the same time as the Merlion Cup.

Shoulder has named 11 members of the national youth squad preparing for the World Youth Championships qualifying series in February.

The six senior players in the Merlion Cup selection also are in the running for the Socceroo world tour in November-December. In fact, it appears Arok wanted them included to make sure they remain active before that tour, should their clubs fail to reach the NSL finals.

Richard Miranda of Juventus

Miranda's just like Richards

Richard Miranda of Brunswick-Juventus has everything it takes to develop into Australia's new Ray Richards.

Richards, who played for Marconi, APIA, Sydney Croatia, Hollandia (Qld) and Latrobe (Vic), still is remembered as the man with the long throw.

He was able to throw the ball from the touchline to the far post — an invaluable asset to the Socceroo for whom he played 60 games and scored 10 goals.

Miranda, like Richards, is a defensive midfielder and he can throw the ball almost as far.

But his career has been hampered by a "tough man" tag hung on him by opposing fans, who treat him with hostility.

In a recent game against Heidelberg-Alexander, which Juventus won 5-1, he was sent off after his second caution, and the fans reacted angrily to a gesture he says was no more than a victory sign.

He certainly doesn't deserve such treatment, for he's one of the best value-for-money players in the NSL.

He goes in hard, sure — but he goes in fairly. He never stops competing and he scores goals as well. It's just like describing the Richards of old. All Miranda needs is that Zapata moustache.

His record certainly doesn't indicate that he's a hit-man.

He started with Wits University in South Africa, where he was born. From there he went to England for a trial with Charlton Athletic but was unable to take up a two-year contract because he was unable to get a British work permit.

So he decided to come to Australia instead, to join Preston Makedonia. From there he switched to Box Hill, where he had a successful 1983 season in the Victorian State League. Neither at Makedonia nor at Box Hill was he sent off, and while playing for Australia B in the international tournament this year, he found himself on the receiving end of some harsh treatment by defender George Orfanidis of Iraklis whose tackle in Brisbane put Miranda into plaster for eight weeks.

"It's a pity the crowds have taken a set against me," Miranda said this week, after being selected to the national squad that will defend the Merlion Cup in Singapore next month.

"I seem to be a marked man at the moment, yet all I'm trying to do is play the game as best I can."

"I apologise to the Heidelberg fans who misinterpreted my gesture last Sunday week, and I praise the referee for holding up play until I left the ground, otherwise there may have been more trouble."

The great Ray Richards

HOW FORCES OF BIGOTRY DRIVE AWAY SOCCER'S SUPPORTERS

Bigotry long has been one of the major forces working against soccer. The editorial in a recent Melita Eagles match programme hit out at some of the facets of that bigotry. We reprint it in full:

WHAT is the real cause of the disappearing thousands from the soccer terraces this season? Most causes have been debated. We hit rock-bottom at the Melita Stadium against Wollongong Wolves. It is being predicted that our first year in the NSL would attract less spectators at our home stadium than our previous years in the State League.

Soccer in Australia has finally lost its credibility with its natural base. It took many years of negative and destructive journalism. It took an orchestrated and sustained attack against those people paying at the gate. In many direct and indirect ways they were told that they are not welcome because they were loud and noisy; they abuse the referee, they take their soccer too seriously, they look different and cannot speak "the English".

"Australian Soccer Weekly", the paper that should know better, as late as the issue of August 27, called us Europeans bad bad habits or of ethnic background. Incredibly they also stated that spectators who follow Rugby League, Rules and Union are essentially Australian. These spectators don't climb the fence to attack referees or players — or if they do, it is a most rare occurrence.

Categorising in this manner has harmed soccer no end. It has pigeon-holed soccer in this country as the unruly game watched by those foreigners. This has never been true, then nor now. Only a week ago in Bourke, NSW, a football brawl resulted in 23 charges being laid and police arriving wearing helmets and protective clothing. Six children were also affected with noxious chemical. November 1982, Australian fast bowler Terry Alderman was attacked by a spectator in Test cricket in Perth, January 1983. 64 people were detained for drunkenness when fights broke out on the Hill and Lance Cairns was pelted with beer cans during a one-day cricket match. Hooliganism and the Hill at the SCG have become synonymous. In Britain, spectator violence often takes the form of gang warfare. We could continue to give examples.

It goes to prove that the continuous bashing of migrants has finally come home to roost. We are in no way condoning violence or hooliganism but for goodness sake, stop branding migrants at soccer as violent or more aggressive than your normal present-day crowd at any other sports.

This kind of divisiveness has characterised soccer in Australia, fanned vigorously by those untouched by the imposition of having to change their name or having to add to it to gain admission to the NSL. Well you all had your day. The period of riding on our back could be over, or is it? Maybe the last episode is still to be written. Maybe your average district club, more concerned with the poker machines than with getting people back on the terraces will keep changing the format of the NSL until they have us all watching the oval ball.

Derek Todd and the National Cup.

By LAURIE SCHWAB

MELBOURNE CROATIA 0 NEWCASTLE ROSEBUD 1 (Todd 29th). National Cup final at Olympic Park, Wednesday night. Crowd about 4,000. Cautions: Boogard (NR). Referee: Steart Mellings (Vic) 9.

MELBOURNE CROATIA: Banovic 8 - Deankovic 7, Lewis 86th, Curcio 8, Parton 6, Hannah 7 - Biskic 6, Antolovic 6 (Campbell 6 half time), Brogan 7, Cummings 8 - Markovic 7, Gojevic 7. Coach: Tony Vrzina.

NEWCASTLE ROSEBUD: Gosling 9 - Maier 8, Owens 8, Boogaard 8, Thompson 8 - McQuarrie 8, Senkalski 7, Brandt 9 - Milosevic 7 (inj. sub Allen 83rd), Todd 10, Jones 7. Coach: Willie Gallagher.

The paupers of Newcastle turned into princes in winning the National Cup against all odds — thanks largely to little striker Derek Todd who now heads back to England to be married.

Todd scored the winning goal, offered himself for every ball, always got the position in his battle with Shaun Parton, turned with lightning speed after trapping it and earned a 10 rating by being an ever-reliable avenue to goal.

These Newcastle players aren't even receiving match payments, so their triumph ranks as probably the most remarkable in the history of the Cup competition.

Because of the club's limited finances, the players agreed to an end-of-season payment in lieu of match payments.

Croatia coach Tony Vrzina reorganised his line-up quite dramatically. David Brogan and Tommy Cumming, who both had played as strikers against Hellas in their previous match, started in midfield, with Steve Gojevic and Robert Markovic replacing them up front. Josip Biskic was back after injury, but nowhere near his best — and so Peter Lewis and Jim Campbell, bought for a total of $36,000 early this year, were on the bench.

Gojevic and Markovic battled away dutifully up front, but one couldn't help feeling that Brogan should have been pushed forward during the second half.

where more physical vigor was needed to unsettle Newcastle's powerful centre backs, Neil Owens and Michael Boogaard. Having praised Todd, we must also pay tribute to Newcastle's goalkeeper Clint Gosling who was sharp as a scalpel and surely deserves to be included in the New Zealand national squad for its world tour. Similarly, Simon Brandt should have been chosen at least for Australia's Merlion Cup squad. He was quite sensational in midfield — and let's remember that he also can play as striker.

Tommy Cumming made a difference to the attack when he stationed himself mainly on the left wing during the second half, but by then Croatia had wasted its best scoring chances. Ralph Maier made a potentially disastrous mistake in the 35th minute when he played a back-pass which was intercepted by Brogan whose shot however, hit the bottom of the post. It bounced to Gojevic who looked set to score but Andy Thompson, who had a fine game at left back, dispossessed him with a timely tackle.

Gojevic had probably the best chance of the match in the 44th minute. Cumming won the ball on the left and squared it to Gojevic, unmarked in the middle, but instead of burying it, Gojevic shot past the post.

Newcastle was leading 1-0 and had been since the 29th minute. Eluding tackles inside the box, Todd fired a shot which was blocked by goalkeeper Yanka Banovic. The ball however, rebounded back to Todd who struck it into the empty net, with Banovic still down.

Banovic did, however, make a series of good saves — the first in the 11th minute when he deflected one-handed a shot by John McQuarrie who had burst through on a one-two with Todd.

Seconds after half time, Banovic managed to get his body in the way of a shot by Todd who had wriggled into a shooting position with commendable skill and sharpness, and near the end, Banovic flew to palm a free kick from Joe Senkalski over the bar.

Newcastle's sharp, accurate midfield play was delightful to watch. Nothing was wasted and in addition to playing the ball forward purposefully, the Newcastle midfielders also close down lightning-quick and in the second half particularly, were of invaluable help to their defenders.

Gosling made a fine save to deny Gojevic a goal in the 22nd minute, just before Todd scored, and in the 44th minute Gojevic's attacking partner Markovic, shot just past the post in a dangerous Croatia counter-attack.

Jim Campbell replaced Jozo Antolovic at half time but it didn't make any difference. Peter Lewis came on for Drago Deankovic with a few minutes left — probably because Vrzina wanted to give every one at least a taste of playing in a final.

When Croatia pushed forward in numbers during the second half, it did create quite a few chances. One of the best was started by Gojevic, who got past opponents on a good run before crossing to Markovic who was unmarked in the box. His header, however, went straight to Gosling.

A long low shot by Brandt caught Banovic at the wrong post, but the goalkeeper showed good reflexes in changing position and diving at the ball on the other side.

A cross from Cumming set up Markovic for a shot in the 75th minute but the indomitable Boogaard threw his body in the way to foil Croatia yet again.

Newcastle was playing on the break in the second half, and when Dean Milosevic broke away, another goal seemed imminent. Tony Curcio however, closed Milosevic down quickly and somehow managed to get his heel in the way as Milosevic tried to play the ball past Curcio.

It was the fourth time that a Victorian team had reached the final only to be beaten. Heidelberg suffered that misfortune the previous three times, being beaten by Marcon in 1980, APIA in 1982 and Sydney Olympic in 1983.

Brogan was the top scorer of the Cup competition, with a total of five, while Todd finished with four.

It was Croatia's third successive defeat after going 17 games unbeaten. Newcastle's future remains clouded because the liquidator of Newcastle KB (United) remains adamant that he wants hefty transfer fees for some of the former KB players now with Rosebud.

The Rosebud club can't afford to pay those fees, and if matters come to a head, Rosebud club can't afford to pay those fees, and if matters come to a head, Rosebud may find itself with insufficient players to carry on. In the meantime though, the club basks in the glory of cup success.

• WILLIE GALLAGHER, the Newcastle Rosebud coach, was born in Paisley in Scotland. He played for Johnstone Burrough, Ardeer Thistle and Saltcoats Vics before coming to Australia in 1965. Here, he played for Austral and Adamstown Rosebud until 1975, when he turned to coaching. He coached Azzurri in northern NSW for three years, Cardiff for two years and then went overseas for a year. He spent five weeks at Glasgow Celtic and six weeks at St Mirren, observing coaching methods. He then coached Adamstown Rosebud in the northern NSW State League and was appointed Director of Coaching for the club this year until Newcastle KB United folded and was replaced in the National League by Newcastle Rosebud. The new team only played a handful of games in the NSL before Gallagher was appointed coach, replacing Jim Foley.

• TONY VRZINA, the Melbourne Croatia coach, played for Split in his native Croatia in the 1950's. He spent a year with German club Wuppertal before coming to Australia in 1965. He joined Melbourne Croatia as a junior coach, eventually becoming senior coach for the 1971 and 1972 seasons. Croatia twice won the Ampol Cup under Vrzina. It also won the interstate Ampol Cup in 1971, beating Sydney's Western Suburbs 3-1 in the final. It also won the State League Cup last year. Vrzina resigned in 1972, the year Croatia was expelled from the VSE. He became manager-coach of Essendon Lions in 1975, helping that club to avoid relegation from Metro First Division. Lions became Essendon Croatia in 1976, finishing third in First Division and winning promotion to State League to fill one of four vacancies created by the formation of the National League. Vrzina, however, again resigned and in 1978 he guided Western Suburbs to a second place finish in Metro First Division. He joined Preston Macedonia for a year in 1979, switched to Slavia for two years, then Bullen, then was appointed coach of Northcote in December, 1982, a post he resigned earlier this year. He was appointed coach of Melbourne Croatia in June.

Liverpool rejected by Clint Gosling!

By TED SIMMONS

New Zealand and Newcastle goalkeeper Clint Gosling still blames himself for a youthful decision which probably stopped him from becoming custodian for one of England's great soccer teams.

The 24-year-old Gosling trialed with First Division champion Liverpool nine years ago and was offered a contract by club manager Bob Paisley. "I was cold and homesick for New Zealand and decided to reject the offer," he said.

"It was only a few seasons later that the first team keeper Ray Clemence left the club which looked around for another player before signing Bruce Grobbelaar to fill the vacancy."

Gosling was born in Liverpool and migrated to New Zealand at the age of five with his parents.

He gained part compensation last week-end when he was invited by New Zealand national coach Allan Jones to join the Kiwi squad to tour England and Scotland next month.

Gosling is in his fourth season with Newcastle after being brought to Australia by former Newcastle KB coach Alan Vest.

He completed the 1983 season with the best record of any goalkeeper in the national league when he conceded only 26 goals in 30 games, one less than national keeper Terry Greedy.

Gosling was selected as a teenager in the New Zealand team to contest the 1978 President's Cup in Singapore and was chosen the following year in the national youth team to take part in the Oceania Zone World Youth Championship qualifying rounds.

Jones spent three days in Australia to watch the form of Gosling with Newcastle Rosebud and Richard Wilson with Macedonia in Melbourne.

"There are no problems with the current keepers but New Zealand is small country and I can't afford to miss anyone," Jones said.

"Every player must be looked at, especially young players of the future like Gosling."

Jones will take a squad of 18 players, including two goalkeepers, on an eight-game four week tour of England and Scotland between mid-October and mid-November.

New Zealand will play matches against Glasgow Rangers and England B, the same teams Australian will meet during its tour in November.

"We have two matches in Scotland and play England at Nottingham Forest ground. The tour is important because there are only 13 months to the first of the 1986 World Cup qualifying matches and then the battle will be on," said Jones.

The New Zealand coach was highly impressed with the standard of play when he visited the National Under 13 and Under 16 championships.

"Australia's future is secure with players like these, providing the development can be properly linked with coaching," he added.

"My only concern is whether the youngsters are being rushed into the big-time too quickly because both Australia and New Zealand seem to be worth made."

Delengos, Tattos share six

Driene thanks Mariani

Marconi defender Martin Driene, 17, certainly made an impact during his week in Tasmania for the 1984 Commonwealth Bank Secondary Schools' championship.

Driene scored New South Wales' opening goal in the 2-0 win over Queensland in the final and was selected in the Australian Schoolboys' side.

He started his career with Liverpool Robins in the under-8s before going to Morebank for five years and this is his first year in the senior squad with Marconi.

"Les Scheinfull is a good coach. He gets everyone motivated and he works on the simple stuff. He gets everybody to support. When you get the ball he makes everyone come in to support and it becomes automatic after a while," he says.

Driene is totally committed to soccer and even has been overseas to gain experience. Eighteen months ago he spent three months with English League club, Wimbledon.

"I learned a lot there," Driene says. "I had tried out for the NSW under-16 team before I left and didn't make it. When I got back, I tried out for the under-18s and I got in. I think the experience with Wimbledon was one of the main reasons."

Driene is pleased with his own progress and that of Marconi at the moment.

"Our slow start at the beginning of the season probably fact that we had a few new players such as David Lowe and Craig Mason and, I suppose, they weren't used to the style we play at Marconi."

Playing in the first team is not as difficult as people may imagine. "They make it very easy for you," says Driene.

"Bertie Mariani has probably helped me the most."

Driene's ambitions are to play for the young Socceroos and to eventually become a full-time professional.

Given his performances in Hobart during the national under-20 championships, he is well on the way to achieving both these aims.

RICHMOND HIGH SCHOOL 6 (Delangos 5th, 13th, and 24th; Tattos 10th, 80th and penalty 89th). KEW HIGH SCHOOL 0. Victorian senior all-high schools final at Dendy Park, Brighton, Thursday.

RICHMOND H.S.: Stamos 7 — Anastasiou 7, C. Gourlias 8, Antonopoulos 7, Hronis 7 — Nguyen 7, Kaseris 7, N. Gourlias 8 (sent off, 50th), Anastopoulos 7 (Nicolau 75th) — Delengos 9 (inj sub Levantakis 7, 55th), Tattos 9.

KEW H.S.: Papagiannopoulos 5 — Chomanuk 6 (Ntopoulos, 80th), Koukounaras 5, Livadas 8, Mangonis 7 — Koulobos 5, Apidopoulos 6, Myles 6 — Lefleur 5 (Argitis inj), Dimasi 5, Argitis snr 8.

Richmond High School collected its seventh trophy in four years with this easy victory in the Victorian senior all-high final.

In the other high schools finals, St Albans beat Springvale 5-1 to win the junior title and East Doncaster took the intermediate championship by beating Thornbury 3-0 on penalties after the score was tied at 2-2 after extra time.

Peter Delengos, who previously had been playing as sweeper, shot Richmond into the lead on a long through ball from Steve Tattos after only five minutes.

Tattos made it 2-0 after goalkeeper Theo Papagiannopoulos had failed, after many touches, to grab the ball, and in the 13th minute, Delengos raced away from Andrew Koukounaras and Andrew Mangonis to make it 3-0.

Delengos completed his hat-trick by outspeeding Koukounaras and belting the ball hard over Papagiannopoulos in the 24th minute. From that point, the game was dead.

Midfielder Nick Gourlias — until then one of Richmond's best players — was sent off for chopping down Mangonis in the 50th minute but even after Delengos went off injured, Kew was unable to make an impression on the much more accomplished Richmond team.

Tod Myles had Kew's best chance with a free kick, but goalkeeper Jim Stamos made a one-handed save. Tattos sidestepped three opponents to make it 5-0, and then scored from a penalty awarded over a foul on Theo Kaseris.

Five of the Richmond High School players are with the Richmond Alemannia club in the Metropolitan League. They are Chris Gourlias, Nick Gourlias, Delengos, Tattos and Nick Antonopoulos.

SENKALSKI FOR SYDNEY

Joe Senkalski (pictured) is Sydney-bound.

The elegant Newcastle-Rosebud midfielder has had offers from St George Budapest, APIA-Leichhardt and Sydney Hakoah.

"I've been happy back home in Newcastle but I'm eager to play for Australia again, and my chances would be much better if I played in Sydney," Senkalski said.

His last experience with the Socceroos was against Hakoah at Olympic Park about four years ago and although he emerged as one of the best players that night, an old hamstring injury sidelined him once more and put him out of Socceroo contention.

He previously was in the national squad that visited China in 1979 but before he could play a game, his hamstring played up and he was sent back to Australia.

Senkalski joined Sydney Olympic in 1977 only because Newcastle did not have a team in the National League when it started. He moved back home when Newcastle KB United entered the NSL and joined Newcastle Rosebud this year, after KB United folded up.

Senkalski worked hard as a youngster to develop his ball skills. "That's very important for any young player, for once you have total control over the ball, you can think about what you're going to do with it, rather than worry about whether or no you're going to get it under control properly," he says.

A lesson there for young players —

LES MURRAY

Moves from within the South Australian Soccer Federation to re-open the doors to imports — or if you like increase the quota of admissible "visa players" — has rattled many a protectionist ear in recent weeks.

Including mine, as I have been pretty pleased in recent years by the emergence of talented Aussies of the ilk of Davidson, Farina, Franken, Crino, Soper etc.

The emergence of such men hardly would have been possible in the years, going back a couple of decades, when first divisions around the country could not have subsisted without eight or nine imports per team.

Now the quota is three visa players, only one of whom can be a new recruit, and administrators appear well satisfied that the grand cause of "fostering home talent" is being well served.

The fact is that the quota system by its naked self is not sufficient to serve the cause and all it basically does is create some economic equity between our struggling clubs.

But, while that equity is of course a very desirable thing, it does not guarantee the fashioning of good quality players, only cheap ones, and I'm not entirely sure such restrictions on imports improves our soccer.

In fact I'm sure it does not because now, coinciding in other words with a period when the least amount of imports is being used in Australian soccer's recent history, the standard of our game is a lot lower than ever before.

Simply, a quota system is a toothless measure without a grand and futuristic coaching scheme to go with it.

Maybe some of us — too many of us to be sure — are under the impression that those half a million junior players provide some bottomless well of future internationals but that notion is tragically way off the mark.

Those juniors play week in and week out, egged on by parents and conscientious officials, will continue to play so long as Rugby or Aussie Rules remain "too violent" for mum or dad.

But the juniors aren't being coached, and don't we at Network 0-28 know it.

So, with our lopsided effort to foster home talent, our alternative to imports is half a million uncoached juniors.

Step number one then should be to improve, by gigantic proportions, the coaching of juniors in this country. National and State directors of coaching are but a case of scratching the surface.

In the meantime (step number two) the doors for imports should be eased open if not left entirely ajar.

However, new thoughts on imports though should be dominated by selectivity: allowing only (a) quality players and (b) players from a variety of sources.

The wholesale importation of players from England and Scotland — because they happen to be the cheapest — should be at all cost avoided.

Rugged players with plenty of character and application we have plenty of and we've had plenty of them since pure economics threw the

More imports would raise standard

import out of kilter and triggered an onslaught of lower division British players in the 1960s.

But players with a different education, players with flair and technique should be admitted and indeed encouraged to come.

A new quota system could allow say six players a team, provided those six hail from at least three different nations and provided all six have proven first division experience.

Such a system would guarantee quality imports and the importation of a variety of skills — none of which, with the worst will in the world, is likely to damage soccer's development in this country.

Whenever I think of imports and the sorry bunch of players Australian clubs insist on buying abroad, I can't help thinking of that magnificent Uruguayan World Youth Championship team of 1981.

Their silky skills, and the rotten luck that undid them in their quarter final against Rumania, will live long in my memory as will the host of brilliant players they paraded.

And though many of those players — Francescoli, Aguilera, Gutierrez, Villazan — have made the grade in top company in Uruguay, others probably are buried somewhere in one of Uruguay's nondescript middle-of-the-table clubs.

Where for instance is Alexis Noble, a left winger with explosive acceleration and a master of the dribble who would be a sensation and nothing less if he played in Australia?

Wherever he is, if he doesn't play for Penarol or Nacional, and I know he doesn't, there's no way he's making more money than he would playing for South Melbourne Hellas or Sydney Olympic.

How indeed could having such a man play among us be considered damaging to Australian soccer?

Let's play Cup pre-season; watch Hellas go in finals

Well, the National Cup is over and while congratulations are in order for Newcastle Rosebud, I've got to say that unfortunately, the Cup's been a flop.

Playing the early rounds at a time when some of the best teams in the world were parading their talents around Australia was a big mistake, for the World Series games completely overshadowed the Cup. Nevertheless, well done Buds! They played against Melbourne Croatia last Wednesday night at Olympic Park and won 1-0, which might have surprised quite a few people. We had then, the second bottom club in the Australian Conference, playing the third top club in the National Conference. It goes to show that there isn't a great difference between the top and bottom clubs.

It was great to see the Buds get up because here was a side playing purely for the love of the game and purely for the thrill of competition. Not for them any big bonuses for winning. And by all accounts,

KAT'S CORNER
with PETER KATHOLOS

Newcastle Rosebud players ran their guts out and thoroughly deserved to win. Tremendous.

But here's food for thought with regards to next year's Cup. Let's play it as a pre-season competition. We can use Olympic Park, St. George Stadium and Marconi Stadium under lights and at that time of year the weather will be great. I'm sure the games would attract the fans and the atmosphere would be just what we need to bring the best out in the players.

Hellas in form
The national finals are just around the corner and South Melbourne Hellas is #### in top form.

Hellas has a well balanced, consistent side and it will give the championship a big nudge. Up front you've got that great marksman Dougie Brown and lively Charlie Egan. Before last weekend's game, Brown had notched 16 goals and Egan had bagged eight. Not bad for a striking duo!

The midfield is superbly balanced. You've got Oscar Crino and Alan Davidson providing the skill and creativity while Kenny Murphy and young Johnny Kanesoulis are tremendous workers and ball winners.

And the defence is as mean as hell and really well organised. In fact Bobby Russell, Steve Blair, John Zyzdorn and Kris Kalifatis all have played for Australia. That says enough about their quality.

And Hellas certainly isn't short of talent in reserves like Con Kinos and Angie Postecoglou.

Yes, Hellas is starting to roll. That's something we'll all have to watch out for when the national finals get going.

Now for St. George

Olympic's squaring up to St George this week and what an interesting clash this will be with so many Socceroos on show.

St George is fighting for survival and right now every point is vital. But Olympic will be looking for another victory to cement our standing as one of the finest teams in the Australian Conference.

And I reckon that national coach Frank Arok might have a few headaches when he tries to stop us in our current mood.

who do you mark at Olympic? Do you mark Soper, or Koussas, or Kalantzis, or Patikas or Rasopoulos, or...? The list almost is endless. We're all getting forward and having a go and we're all really enjoying ourselves.

But you can't take St George lightly. Okay, Saints aren't having a great season but they've got good players and they're quite capable of bouncing back against a top team.

This is going to be one hell of a match, mark my words.

BUDS' BOSS HITS BACK!

Newcastle Rosebud president Paul Colver hit out strongly at comments which Melbourne Croatia president Joe Sigur made in last week's issue of "Soccer Action".

Sigur said: "If I were there (Newcastle Rosebud's) president, I'd keep my mouth shut and just be thankful that I'm still in the National League! If they can't keep their house in order they shouldn't be playing at this level."

Sigur was responding to suggestions that playing the final in Melbourne gave Croatia an unfair advantage.

Colver had this to say in reply: "Mr Sigur would have been better off waiting until after the Cup final had been played before opening his mouth."

"At least my club has its own ground and a licensed club behind it. And we let our coach pick the team."

Adamstown Rosebud has been playing soccer in this country for over 100 years so which club — ours or Croatia — is the more established?

"Within the next eight weeks we'll have tremendous floodlighting at Adamstown Oval and we've already proposed to the National League that we be allowed to play games under lights next season. Channel 0-28 likes the idea. In fact, they've even thought about televising our night games live to Melbourne and Sydney."

"Our local State parliamentarian, Richard Fare, has done a lot for us. We've received a $25,000 grant from the State government, $12,500 from the Adamstown Oval board of trustees, and $12,500 from the Adamstown licensed club. And Alco Steel sponsors our youth team which is in the final of the Youth Cup."

"We found out last week which club — ours or Croatia — was the better organised on the field and had much more stability among its players. I'd go as far as to say that we're one of the better run clubs around."

Top five keeps league alive

By LAURIE SCHWAB

St George Budapest faces a near hopeless task in its battle to avoid relegation, as its next two opponents are Sydney City Hakoah and Sydney Olympic.

Blacktown, with Phil O'Connor back in top form, looms as a strong possibility for a place in the Australian Conference top five, as it meets Wollongong and Penrith in its next two matches.

And in the National Conference, five teams still are in the running for two finals places, with fourth-placed Brisbane Lions likely to slip on Sunday, when they meet all-powerful South Melbourne Hellas at Middle Park.

The same spirited fights exist in the Australian Conference, which confirms that the top-five series is the best concept yet introduced by the NSL.

With a first-past-the-post system, interest in the championship tussle is reduced to perhaps two teams.

But the race for the finals involves most of the league, which keeps interest alive until the end. Indeed, it increases interest in the final few rounds.

There now are three rounds to go, with the final one being an intra-conference challenge round based on standings after next weekend's matches.

The other two games for each of the finals contenders are: B.U. Juventus: v George Cross and Melbourne Croatia.

Footscray J.U.T.S.: v Adelaide Juventus and Makedonia. Brisbane Lions: v SM-Hellas and Brisbane City.

Makedonia: v West Adelaide Hellas and JUST. Melita Eagles: v Sydney Olympic and Sydney City Hakoah.

Sydney Croatia: v Newcastle-Rosebud and Marconi. Penrith: v APIA and Blacktown.

Blacktown: v Wollongong and Penrith. Canberra: v Heidelberg-Alexander and Newcastle-Rosebud.

Melita Eagles, who are fifth in the Australian Conference, are unlikely to qualify for the finals because the task of beating Olympic and Hakoah appears beyond them.

In the National Conference, Footscray JUST's chances depend on whether Gary McDowell recovers from a knee injury sustained against Melbourne Croatia last Sunday. Without McDowell, JUST probably would have to settle for a draw with Adelaide City Juventus on Sunday.

B.U. Juventus, meanwhile, should strengthen its grip on a finals berth by beating last-placed George Cross, particularly since star midfielder Richard Miranda will be back after suspension.

And Makedonia, with Zarko Odzakovic fit again, should win two games straight — against West Adelaide Hellas and JUST. Even Canberra has a chance of qualifying in the Australian

SOCCER TEAMS WHO ARE WILLING TO PLAN AHEAD FOR THESE OVERSEAS TOURS

BOYS — U/13, 14, 15, 16: Youth League, Super League, Association or top club teams to enter "THE SOUTH PACIFIC BOYS SOCCER CHALLENGE". These tournaments are held annually (13 & 15 New Caledonia, 14 & 16 Fiji) and are destined to be the premier junior soccer tournaments in the South Pacific. They are set to be played in Sept/Oct 1985 and feature teams from Australia, New Zealand, Fiji, New Caledonia and possibly other countries. A special tournament package including a number of meals is now available and by planning now you can be away for a great trip next September.

MENS — A choice of two end of season trip tournaments which are open to any standard of team as the events are designed as both a serious tournament but also an overseas holiday. The first is "THE SOUTH PACIFIC MENS AND WOMENS SOCCER CHALLENGE" set for the same week in October in Fiji. The second is "THE THIRD GARUDA CUP BALI SOCCER TOURNAMENT" set for the first two weeks of November 1985. Both tournament packages include a number of meals and are the perfect way to end a hard season.

WOMENS — The New Caledonia South Pacific Cup now in its 3rd year has been widened to take place in Fiji in 1985 then back to New Caledonia in 1986. The event now called "THE SOUTH PACIFIC WOMENS SOCCER CHALLENGE" takes place in Fiji in October. Club, Association or Invitational teams can enter and in 1985 the event is expected to feature teams from Australia, New Zealand, Fiji, New Caledonia and possibly America. Held during the same week as the mens event it will both be a serious tournament as well as an end of season holiday and as such is open to all standards of teams. A comprehensive package with a number of meals is now available.

One point the difference!

Green Gully midfielder Paul Wade is within one point of catching APIA's John Bradley in the voting for the Boral Bricks $1500 Player of the Year award.

Wade received one vote at the weekend. Bradley received none.

David McIntosh of Penrith outscored both the leaders by notching three votes against Newcastle-Rosebud and with three games to go he still is capable of taking out the award.

Doug Brown of SM-Hellas scored one goal at the weekend, and now is three behind leader John Kosmina (SC-Hakoah) in the Boral Bricks $1000 top scorers award.

Penalty a 'disgrace' — McLachlan

Brisb Lions 2
Green Gully 1
Scorers: Carter (38th), J. Stewart (5th), Niven (penalty 63rd).
Venue: Richlands Stadium.
Crowd: 717
Cautions: Lewis (GG), McInnes (GG), Vasquez (BL), McLachlan (GG).
Referee: Gordon Nicholson

Green Gully officials accused Brisbane referee Gordon Nicholson of "robbing" them of a point after a controversial penalty decision had given Brisbane Lions a 2-1 win at Richlands.

Nicholson, who has been involved in a number of controversies this season, awarded the penalty 63 minutes into the game when he ruled Gully defender Steve McLachlan had pulled Lions midfielder John Stewart off the ball as he was attempting to shoot.

The decision caused an uproar on the Gully bench with team officials, including coach Bobby McLachlan protesting bitterly as they threw boots and buckets into the air in dismay.

"Brisbane is notorious for this. We have heard all the stories and now we find they are true. It is not just something which has happened today but it has happened to team after team coming here."

"It's nothing against Lions because they are a good young side and they took their equaliser well. But the penalty decision was a disgrace. The whole thing is an embarrassment to Queensland soccer," McLachlan said.

"We will be submitting a report to the NSL."

But Nicholson was unperturbed by the criticism and said he was "500 percent certain" his decision was correct.

Ricky Rosso

"The No. 16 (McLachlan) grabbed the Lions' player around the front and thrust him off the ball. I was eight yards from play and it was a clearcut penalty. I have never been more certain about a penalty in my life," Nicholson said.

The controversy extended even to the taking of the kick. Everything appeared set and Alan Niven powerfully drove his shot past Gully keeper Lou Denys and into the net.

But Nicholson ruled he had not blown his whistle and Niven was made to take the kick again. With his second attempt he outsmarted Denys by coolly and surprisingly softly, placing his shot into the bottom left hand corner.

It was a lucky two points for Lions and kept their top five hopes alive. But for Gully it virtually meant the end of the season.

And on their performance and Lions' relatively poor showing, the Melbourne side deserved a point.

David Smallman had a shot cleared off the line by Steve Jackson after only six minutes and although Lions had two chances during the next 25 minutes — through Anderson and Daunt — Gully hit the lead in the 38th minute.

Man of the Match: JOHN STEWART (Brisb Lions)

Fullback David Hogben made a skilful run down the left and cleverly beat fullback Steve Jackson, a rare occurrence this season. Hogben then cut a low cross back to Carter who had moved unmarked to the edge of the box. Carter hit his shot low and hard into the net.

Lions started the second half stronger and a goal looked imminent after Daunt and Hunter had gone close. Lou Denys made the save of the match in the 48th minute when he got a hand onto a powerful Daunt header which seemed goal-bound.

John Stewart, who had been advised shortly before the match he was a standby player for the Merlion Cup and not his brother Russell as had been named in media dispatches, made the breakthrough for Lions in the 55th minute.

The team captain made a strong run down the left and worked his way close to the goal before driving his shot into the net from an acute angle.

Four minutes later Vasquez had to pull back Les Carter on the break to stop a runaway, which earned him a yellow card.

The controversial penalty incident followed shortly after and Smallman earned a yellow card for kicking the ball away in disgust to join McGuinness and Lewis in Nicholson's book.

WHO'S WHO?

A national selection blunder left Brisbane Lions midfielders John and Russell Stewart in a quandary over which player has been named as a standby for the Australian squad to play in the Merlion Cup in Singapore next month.

Russell, a former Youth Soccerer, was named in an ASF release last week as the player on standby, yet his brother John has received the letter advising him of selection.

Queensland soccer officials blasted the incident, claiming it was typical of the treatment given to Queensland players.

"This whole embarrassing incident is typical of how Queensland is being treated. I suggest the national coach, Frank Arok, should come to Queensland and meet some of the players as he obviously doesn't know them," Queensland Soccer Federation boss Alderman Ian Brusasco said.

Brusasco said "J. Stewart" was the name on the list of national squad players he received last week.

He reported the incident to the ASF's executive meeting last weekend, but Arok and ASF secretary Brian Emery disagreed over which brother had been chosen.

"I asked them if they were aware that there were two Stewarts in the Lions team and had they definitely selected John," Brusasco said.

"Arok was not sure and Emery said he thought it was Russell. I suggested they check it very carefully."

Brisbane Lions officials said the incident was extremely embarrassing for their players.

"It should have been checked before the squad was named and made clear in any releases," Lions secretary Lawrence Oudendyk said.

Brusasco said it appeared Arok didn't know the Queensland players.

The ASF resolved the confusion by naming both Stewarts as standby players.

Some face boot in '86

The National League will provide a greatly improved standard of football and a united front to the public by 1986, according to NSL vice chairman Tony Labbozzetta.

And, as clear indication of the trend, Labbozzetta pointed out that clubs that are unable to put the maximum effort into promotion of the sport should not be in the competition.

Labbozzetta said the ASF had accepted the League's plans for 1985.

Next season the league will revert to a straight-forward home and away principle after flitting with a complicated American-style challenge format.

Added to this will be a top five grand final series and a well-promoted NSL Cup.

The NSL Executive, already has declared itself in favour of a switch in 1986 to a 12 or 14 team league in place of the present two 12 team divisions.

"From now the final arbiters in the day-to-day conduct of NSL football will be three ASF members and three from the NSL with the league chairman as president."

"This committee will deal with 1986 plans in conjunction with the State Federations," Labbozzetta said.

"Our aim will be to set out the proposals in plenty of time for them to be understood and then brought into being."

"At this stage it is clear that some of our clubs will approve the plans and others will not."

"However we must gather together the very best clubs — those that offer top entertainment to Australian supporters."

In the light of his comments observers believe the big question will be whether surplus clubs revert to their respective state leagues.

The alternative situation being canvassed by the NSL Executive is the formation of two 12-team second divisions.

At the weekend's world cup committee meeting Sydney Hakoh coach Eddie Thomson had his appointment confirmed as assistant national coach to Frank Arok.

Other officials appointed to join the Australian squad's tour of China and Europe in November-December are manager Andrew Lederer, doctors Brian Corrigan and Sir K. Kanagara, physiotherapist Charlie Jurisic and gear steward Roy Thomas.

The training squad goes into camp in Canberra today (Wednesday) and the touring squad is to be announced the following week.

Ron Tindall, the West Australian director of coaching, has been appointed as Jim Shoulder's assistant for the Merlion Cup tournament in Singapore from October 14-28.

ASF Executive Director Brian Emery said the team will be known as Australian Under-23. We realise that a few players are over-age but the name best describes our objective.

"We have already proposed in view. It is likely that a top Southern European Club will tour here in early February."

BENNETT COSTELLO TROUBLE

The Sunshine-George Cross committee this week will consider taking action against captain Gerry Bennett and goalkeeper Tom Costello following incidents in this match.

Bennett made a two-fingered gesture to Sunshine-George Cross fans as he left the pitch but it is allegations over comments Costello reportedly made to Sunshine-George Cross fans which drew most criticism from club president Alf Zahra.

"I'm absolutely disgusted at the behaviour of some of our players. What Bennett did to the fans is a disgrace but what really upset me is what Costello called our fans. There's no excuse for that sort of behaviour and we'll be taking stern action this week," said Zahra.

Bennett and Costello both had bad games and copped plenty of verbal abuse from Sunshine-George Cross fans, especially towards the end

Man of the match: MARKO PERINOVIC (Canberra)

Of course, these fans can please themselves in their dealings with their players. The fans pay their $5 at the gate and are entitled to shout out whatever they like. They gave Frank Farina a fair bit of abuse, not long after he came on to replace Alan Reis. Farina, who is much younger and less experienced than Bennett, simply smiled at the fans and got on with the game. There's a lesson there for Bennett to learn.

I did not hear Costello's alleged remark. If the allegation is true, he should be drummed out of the club quick-smart.

Marko Perinovic tore Steve Scerri to shreds. That didn't make things any easier for Bennett who was playing sweeper in place of suspended Jim O'Reilly.

Perinovic timed his runs to perfection and with the 'Cross being steamrolled in midfield, the young Canberra striker saw plenty of the ball. In fact, had he finished better he easily could have chalked up six goals. Instead, he had to be satisfied with a hat-trick.

He exposed the ineptitude of the 'Cross defence as early as the third minute when a long, high ball floated in from the right found Costello rooted to his goal line as Perinovic jumped up between two 'Cross defenders and headed in a simple goal.

George Cross took heart from their team's quick reply but Ossie Latif's free kick in the ninth minute was to be the last effective resistance put up by the home side. Don MacLaren was body checked by George Christopoulos about 30 metres out and Latif took the resultant free kick, smashing home a low shot which beat George Economopoulos at the near post.

Perinovic blew a great chance to regain the lead for Canberra in the 31st minute when Alan Reis motored down the left and crossed to the far post.

Perinovic made amends four minutes into the second half with an overhead kick and that was the end of the 'Cross.

Experienced Tom Sermani, skilled youngster John Milalides and tireless Steve Bryant ruled the roost in midfield and Canberra, intent on still going forward and exposing 'Cross at the back, sensed that more goals were there for the taking.

Bennett's day was best summed up in a three-minute period of the second half.

In the 59th minute he took too long to control Norrie Pate's lay-off and blew a scoring chance from dead in front.

A minute later, Bennett misjudged the bounce off a long boot downfield and in nipped Reis but his lob over Costello was high and wide.

But Canberra went further ahead in the 62nd minute and Bennett was the scorer. Perinovic again wriggled clear of Scerri and Costello pulled off a superb smother. The ball went straight to Bennett whose first-time effort sent it firmly into the back of the George Cross net.

The local fans had started to get restless before Bennett's unfortunate own goal and the incident simply served to inflame some of them.

"Why do we pay these bludgers $120 for a loss?" cried one fan who came up to the Press box to have a go at Zahra.

"Why did he (coach Billy Wilkinson) play Toal if he knew he was injured? Just so that Toal could get his money, eh?" said another irate fan.

The latter gent was referring to Bobby Toal's substitution in the 55th minute. Toal hadn't done a lot and injury forced him from the field. Wilkinson had two subs at his disposal. One was a forward, Frank Petricca, while the other, defender Ron Coutts, was the man who replaced Toal and went to the right wing. And boy, did Canberra left back Roy Jones lap up Coutts' appearance on the park.

Canberra kept on with the job. In the 76th minute Perinovic, once more free at the far post, headed onto the top of the bar and over following a Bryant cross from the left. In the 84th minute, Perinovic cut the ball back from the right of the area and Milalides, after moving inside a defender, shot against the post.

The procession toward the George Cross goal was capped by Perinovic's third goal, and Canberra's fourth, in the 90th minute.

Sermani crossed from the right and guess who was at the far post unmarked once more?

Venue: Olympic Village.
Crowd: 2000.

Referee: E. Venios 7.

This was a below par performance by Heidelberg, and coach Brian Garvey was disappointed that after taking an early lead, the team was not able to take control of the match. "We created several chances, although not playing well, but our finishing was not up to standard," Garvey said.

Obviously, the recent spate of injuries and last week's hammering by Juventus have taken their toll. Heidelberg lacked confidence and was a far cry from the smooth-running outfit of a few weeks ago.

However, the good news is that Joe Angele should be available for next week, and left back Steve Marley is not far away from full fitness following his operation.

He played half a match in the youth team, and should return to the to the first team in a couple of weeks.

Heidelberg's "Hoodoo" position of left full back was filled by striker Scott Patterson, the sixth player to play there since the start of the season.

Patterson slotted well into this new role, and proved to be immune to the injury curse which affected the previous five incumbents.

Don Macleod's injury cleared up sufficiently for him defence, and keeper Jeff Oliver, although only 60% fit, was also in the line-up. As a precautionary measure, reserve keeper Spiro Kardamitis was on the bench.

West Adelaide Hellas lined up in a defensive formation with five at the back, three in midfield and two front-runners. Coach Sam Salabasidis, put his experienced players in the back five to contain the Heidelberg attack. This plan worked, particularly as the home team failed to get hold of the midfield and was unable to provide service and support to its front-runners.

Chris Manou looked the best and most consistent of the midfielders, although not a particularly mobile player, he was involved a lot, and always tried to do something constructive when in possession.

After some early pressure, Heidelberg went ahead in the 10th minute. Steve Winn's flick put Steve Tasios through, and the youngster easily beat Gary Sproul from close range.

Following this promising start, the game deteriorated and became scrappy. There were hardly any well worked moves, and neither side was able to establish a pattern of play of any real consequence.

Man of the Match: CHRIS MANOU (WA-Hellas)

Ian McKie in the 55th minute created some excitement. The ball hit the bottom of the upright and bounced into the arms of Jeff Oliver.

At the other end, Theo Selemidis' header from Mike Petersen's cross skimmed the crossbar and Steve Tasios delayed too long and was robbed of the ball when in good position 10 metres from goal, straight in front.

Two well-taken free kicks caused Hellas some concern. In the 72nd minute Stewart Stevenson's swerving shot hit the crossbar, and 10 minutes later Mike Valentine's piledriver was well saved by Gary Sproul.

Nick Mousoulis went forward in the 75th minute, shook off a couple of half-hearted tackles and beat Jeff Oliver from outside of the penalty area with a shot which bounced awkwardly and sneaked inside the upright for the equaliser.

With a minute of play remaining, Steve Winn had a free header from 6 metres, but put the ball well over the bar. Judges on this performance Heidelberg needs to improve a great deal to remain in the championship race. The form of its midfielders must be causing a lot of concern to Brian Garvey. SM-Hellas's championship hopes were boosted and Adelaide Juventus' top five chances nosedived in the mud and slush of Olympic Sportsfield last weekend.

But for a while the situation that stood at the end of the game could have well been reversed.

Juve put a fright into the confident Hellas team which had to claw its way from behind twice before Notts Forest-bound Alan Davidson clinched the game.

The conditions didn't suit Hellas and it floundered in the conditions during a scrappy first half in which Juve held sway.

Juve, growing with confidence as the game wore on, took the lead midway through the first half with a dubious penalty converted by Sergio Melta.

Bold front-running Steve Maxwell was upended by Steve Blair but it was an unintentional foul brought about more by the conditions than spite.

Hellas, without Ken Murphy, looked vulnerable. Its defence ignored the conditions and maintained an attacking style that could have proved costly.

With Melta and Charlie Villani causing problems in midfield and Juve's defence desperate, Hellas faced the prospect of a shock defeat going into the second half.

But Charlie Egan, that dynamic Hellas dynamo, burst into the game twice to enable Hellas to snatch victory from the jaws of defeat.

Doug Brown equalised in the 60th minute but barely had Hellas completed its celebrations when Villani broke clear down the left and struck a superb drive past Laumets.

Juve appeared to have all the answers and was confidently poised for victory when Egan broke clear of his shackles.

He set up John Yzendoorn in the 68th minute and 10 minutes later eluded the defence once more. Egan took the ball to the by-line then cut it back for Davidson to ram a ground shot that slipped under Willy McNally's body.

Juve proved to be a fine test for Hellas but was most unlucky not to have taken at least one point in a game in which it had more dominant periods.

Hellas now has breathing space at the top of the table thanks to lowly West Adelaide Hellas pulling off a shock draw with Heidelberg.

Makedonia 3 B. Juventus 0

Scorers: Martin own goal 18th; Dunn penalty 44th, Ilioski 55th.

Venue: Connor Reserve. Crowd: about 3000. Cautions: Lane (Mak). Referee: Stewart Mellings

How one wishes that all National League games could be like this. As a spectacle it would rate close to 10 for non-stop action, a constant stream of bizarre incidents, relentless attack by both sides, constructive wing play, crowd atmosphere, the inspiring leadership of Juventus sweeper John

Laurie Schwab

Dowie, three strange goals and refreshingly, the absence of that negative approach which kills so many NSL encounters.

Congratulations to Makedonia for taking the points but equal kudos to Juventus for refusing to yield in adversity.

Juventus had beaten the then league leader, Heidelberg-Alexander, 5-1 the previous week, but lined up this time without Richard Miranda who was suspended, and Brian Brown whose guest player status made him ineligible to play in the last four rounds.

Yet I would go so far as to say the Juventus played the better soccer — especially in the second half!

It had more productive forwards in Andrew Zinni and Gary Ward who was playing against his former club. Eddie Campbell and Robbie Cullen were great in midfield and Dowie, as I said, was inspirational as he surged forward time and again, removing any thoughts his team mates may have had of throwing in the towel.

Gordon Flavell was Makedonia's best player for his honest, resolute midfield play, but it took all the strength of defenders George McMillan, Robbie Dunn and Ian Dobson to keep Juventus at bay.

All in all, the fans at Connor Reserve were treated to an enthralling encounter which was nowhere near as one-sided as the scoreline suggests.

Makedonia's goals all had an element of luck about them. The first was punched into the net by Juventus's goalkeeper George Martin; the second came from a dubious penalty converted by Robbie Dunn; and Zoran Ilioski shot home the third with the help of a deflection off the leg of Kevin Lloyd.

Juve, meanwhile, had luck

working against it. Eddie Campbell, with only the goalkeeper to beat, missed narrowly after only two minutes; Joe Sweeney miskicked inches from goal after a square pass from Zinni; goalkeeper Richard Wilson slid and deflected a Sweeney shot with his knee; substitute Zarko Odzakov, on an excellent through pass from Flavell, shot just past, and Ward hit the post!

But while Makedonia probably didn't deserve the penalty it was awarded, it should have been given a penalty when Martin brought down Claude Lucchesi during the second half. On that occasion, however, referee Stewart Mellings thought otherwise.

It is a match which Martin, the political refugee from Romania, long will remember. Under challenge in the air from Sean Lane in the 18th minute, Martin palmed a corner from George Campbell into the net for an own goal that set Makedonia on the road to victory.

He had to dive full stretch to prevent Paul Drinockzy from scoring an own goal, and then he had to turn and chase a pass which had been played over his head, across the face of goal.

Earlier, he had fumbled a direct shot from Ilioski but, luckily, the ball bounced off his hands and over the bar. During the second half, he decided to show off his dribbling skills, coming out of the area to take on Claude Lucchesi. He beat Lucchesi with some difficulty, but then ran into Graham Keys who had the better of him, so Martin brought down the winger to prevent a certain goal.

He did make one good save, however, when he stopped a free kick by Dunn in the 40th minute. Three Makedonia players stood in front of Dunn and quickly got out of the way as he took the kick, sending it towards goal, wide of the defensive wall, with the aid of a deflection.

Scorer: Todd in 77th.

Referee: Jim Reeves 7.

For the second time in three days, Derek Todd bobbed up to score the only goal of the match and give Newcastle two valuable points against Penrith.

Last Wednesday night in Melbourne, Todd scored the only goal of the match against Melbourne Croatia to give Newcastle the National Cup.

Those two efforts will give an idea of how much the little striker will be missed. Todd played his best game against Penrith before returning to England last Monday for a trial with Bradford City.

The deadlock was broken 13 minutes from the end and it was almost a carbon copy of the goal that sealed the fate of Adelaide City the week before.

A corner by Milosevic on the left was powerfully headed by Michael Boogaard. Penrith goalkeeper Michael Gibson reacted brilliantly to stop the ball but could not hold it and Derek Todd was on hand to slot it away.

In his attempt to save Gibson's head came in contact with the upright and he had to receive attention before resuming, still visibly shaken.

The final whistle brought relief to the Newcastle defence that has not conceded a goal in its past three matches and a great deal of credit must go to man of the match Ralph Maier.

Maier would undoubtedly be the most consistent Newcastle player over the season, and if one could put his performances on a chart for the past few months, one would have a straight line, certainly the type of player a coach dreams about.

Penrith was well served by busy midfielders David Hale and Jeff Alinsworth and tenacious defender David McIntosh who gave Derek Todd a torrid afternoon.

Wollongong sweeper Ray Vlietstra celebrated his return to national duties with a top game against St George.

The former Youth international has been picked in the Australian team to defend the forthcoming Merlion Cup in Singapore.

Vlietstra, along with the Saints' Barton, was tops in this entertaining match which would have been worthy of two more successful sides.

Vlietstra capped a magnificent afternoon by scoring his first ever goal in the NSL.

But his headed goal was not enough to save Wollongong from yet another defeat because on the stroke of full time Petkovski grabbed a last-gasp winner for the defending champions.

St George coach Frank Arok however just can't come up with a formula for converting Saints' many scoring opportunities into goals.

"If I could do that I wouldn't be here," he said. "I'd be a famous coach making millions of dollars."

Venue: Olympic Park
Referee: Jim Fearn 7
Sent off: Brogan (84th)
Cautions: Kyriakoulas (JUST).

The settling-in period is over and Yacka Banovic has started producing the form that demands attention from national coach Frank Ark. Banovic definitely should be included for the tour of China and Europe.

Banovic himself has admitted that it has taken him time to re-adjust to the Australian style of soccer and more specifically to tune in with the way Croatia plays at the back.

And given that explanation, it follows that if Banovic eventually is to put in a serious bid for the Soccercoo-keeping jumper, he must be given a chance to prove now — before the World Cup qualifying matches loom any larger — that he can adapt to Ark's tactical style.

On Sunday, Banovic brought off three near impossible saves and combined with Peter Lewis to rule out any possibility of JUST getting any sort of a result.

Banovic had to scramble and managed to tip over a long-range drive which took a wicked curve in the first half. Then, after the break, he dived full length to deny substitute Jamie Paton whose drive would have beaten most keepers.

But the keeper's best came when he was bundled into the net from a challenge by Vlatko Belic in dealing with a cross from the right but somehow managed to keep his arms outstretched to prevent the ball from being ruled to have crossed over the goal line.

On top of that, Banovic contributed directly to Croatia's third goal when his long goal kick took only one bounce to fall nicely for Tommy Cumming to tuck it away from just outside the penalty area in the 68th minute.

Man of the Match:
YACKA BANOVIC
(Melb. Croatia)

That goal came only three minutes after Peter Lewis had put Croatia back into the lead to crown his own outstanding display.

Lewis crept unnoticed into the box to meet Jozo Antolovic's free kick with a header which eluded Dennis Boland.

More important than the goal perhaps was the policing job Lewis did on J.U.S.T. danger man Zdravko Lujic who went through the game almost unnoticed as a result and did not set up even one scoring chance.

The two quick goals by Robert Markovic who took advantage of hesitancy in the area by the JUST defence to smash home a corner kick from Josip Biskic.

Markovic lasted only a half hour after receiving a knock during play and was replaced by Tommy Cumming who had been relegated to the bench because of fear of aggravating the leg injury he sustained at Soccercoo training.

JUST also lost an important player through injury in Gary McDowell who had returned to a central midfield role following the comeback of Kyri Kyriakoulas. McDowell failed to re-emerge after half time.

He said later he had damaged the medial ligament in his right knee and may be unable to play in the remaining games. It is a massive blow to JUST's finals hopes.

Despite the loss of McDowell, JUST manager to equalise at 1-1 only five minutes into the second half from a move started by Vlatko Belic, JUST's hardest working player, who laid the ball back for Tom Karic to supply the cross which Joe Carroll headed home.

Kyriakoulas was assigned marking duties on David Brogan and won an astonishing amount of decisions from referee Jim Fearn in tussles between the two.

Both were booked but Brogan's frustrations finally exploded in the 84th minute and he said something within hearing range of linesman Mike Gaunt who immediately alerted the referee and left him with no option but to show the striker the red card.

Melita came back in the 29th minute with their best chance of the half when Wilson headed a Farrugia corner against the underside of the crossbar and the ball rebounded for Demanuele. His shot, right on target, unfortunately for the home side, struck Andriopoulos standing in the path of the goal.

Steve Meades who came on the Godzik (victim of an incident which left him with a fractured elbow) saw his shot, soon after taking the field, deflected by McPherson for a corner.

Arnold was out of luck again with the second half only 7 minutes old when his low shot was palmed away by the busy McPherson.

Soon after this Melita nearly equalised. A free kick left for Kenny Wilson was driven firmly by the tall defender only inches wide of the target after evading the six-man wall.

Olympic went into the match minus injured Soccercoo Jimmy Patalis and Chris Kalantzis.

Neither side deserved to collect maximum points from this encounter as both sets of strikers delivered only a handful of shots on target.

Olympic's front running trio of Soper, Koussas and Patalis not once rounded their markers.

The same applies to Tredinnick, Caban and Bradley of APIA.

In fact both Soper's and Tredinnick's contribution was non-existent, but in their defence, they both appeared to be carrying injuries.

Olympic, after their 6-1 thrashing of Blacktown City, had been labelled in all sections of the media as the enter-tainers of the league.

On their performance against APIA their reputation was in tatters as they failed to string even two consecutive passes together.

Olympic's midfield of Katholos, Raskopoulos and Theodorakopoulos was devoid of any ideas.

All three were content to pump long aimless balls in the direction of Soper, Koussas and Patalis.

These balls were easily cut out by Bertogina and Pullen.

In fact while Pullen was on the field Olympic's strikers never threatened.

It was when Pullen was replaced because of injury at half time that APIA felt to the poor standard of its opponents.

Up until then APIA had been the better team, playing constructively and trying to create chances. It was up front where APIA failed miserably as Tredinnick, Caban and Bradley were absolutely woe-ful.

But full credit must be given to Rodgers and Jennings, who not only contained Bradley and Tredinnick, but also found time to venture forward.

Koussas opened the scoring in the 68th minute when he pushed home a cross from Patalis.

Katholos sealed the result when he scored a fine individual goal six minutes from full time.

Other than the two goals there weren't any other highlights worth mentioning.

Once again these two clubs produced a healthy crowd, taking into consideration Sydney's all-time low in attendance at this season.

But it was a pity to see Sydney's second largest crowd of the year being disappointed and disillusioned with a match which can only be described as boring and lacking in entertainment and excitement.

The top of the table clash between Marconi and Sydney Hakoah turned into an unfortunate and fierce encounter which hovered around boiling point.

It is strange to think that soccer in Australia is reaching this standard. It is strange to see people in Rugby League get suspensions of six weeks or six months just for using an elbow and yet in this particular match, the elbow was used on no less than two dozen occasions with intent to harm an opponent — and in most cases the offender went unpunished.

I think the League must take action — and I MEAN TAKE ACTION. Do not waste your finger any more. None of this Nello Borges (Syd. Croatia).

David Lowe

one or two week's suspension stuff. Let's take action. Let's get rid of the players as well as referees who threaten to change this game into a combination of grid iron and lacrosse.

Late tackles, abusive language, elbowing, shirt pulling, tripping behind play were all the order of the day. Since the referee failed to take sufficient action, a number of Marconi supporters came to the field hurling abuse at him.

It is a long time since I have seen scenes like this at Marconi and I hope a long time before they are repeated.

Football action, however, was not missing despite the heavy stuff that went on in between. David Lowe beat a couple of Hakoah defenders in the 13th minute and crossed only to see Rod Brown miss the ball by a blade. From a resultant corner and a header by Mason it fell for Jankovics just three metres from the line but a bunch of Hakoah players on the line blocked the shot.

Three minutes later Peter Sharpe made the break that gave Marconi its lead. He found Lowe who helped it on to Rod Brown but a spectacular dive by Todd Clark saved the day if only for a moment.

Lowe picked up the rebound to score a great goal.

Midway through the first half and following a corner kick from Joe Watson and a header by Barnes, Hakoah almost equalised. James could not hold the ball and it fell towards Kosmina but Calderan stuck his foot out to clear over the bar.

Their best opportunity came close to the end of the first half when Keith Falconer crossed to the far post for an unmarked Paul Kay but the Hakoah midfielder missed the ball completely! Hakoah started the second half in a more determined mood and almost from the kick-off should have had the ball in the net. Grant Lee went past two Marconi defenders then cut back for Paul Kay, unmarked and only metres from the goal line, but alas, it was not Kay's day. He scooped his shot over the bar.

Three minutes later Murray Barnes hit the crossbar with his header.

Five minutes later Marconi's "wall" made an error and paid dearly for it. James appeared to be calling his players to move the wall to the left as Peter Falconer curled his right foot round the ball from 20 metres to score.

In the last half hour very little was seen apart from some natty tackling and maybe one clear-cut chance to Henderson in the last minute when 'Hendo' rose high to head just over the bar.

Steve O'Connor was sent off the field with 14 minutes of play remaining and the referee's decision was hotly disputed by the Hakoah players.

O'Connor appeared to have fouled Mason and while on the ground a scuffle broke out between the two.

Before a large and enthusiastic crowd — the best for many weeks at Melita Stadium — last year's State League rivals Melita and Croatia fought out a tense battle over 90 action packed minutes.

Full credit to Melita for sticking to their task despite meeting strong resistance from Croatia at the back.

Two valuable points went back to King Tomistav Park after this encounter and the position of 5 Sydney teams now hangs in the balance.

Melita in fifth place before this game now find themselves only a point clear of the lowest placed Sydney team and in real fear of the big drop. That would be a real pity, for work is about to commence on an ambitious new grandstand project which the Parramatta council has just approved.

Paul Goodwin

With an equal investment of a quarter of a million dollars by both council and Melita, a future without National League soccer would be futile.

All is not yet lost, though forthcoming games against Sydney Olympic and Sydney City do make the task a tough one.

Recent Croatia signing Zeljko Jurin, burst down the right flank in the opening minute of the game and crossed smartly only to see a Melita defender on guard duty in the goalmouth.

Melita recovered quickly to send Demanuele away down the right flank and the Maltese recruit watched as Paul Andriopoulos headed wide, his 6th minute cross.

Croatia continued to split the home defence in the early period and it came as no surprise when Graham Arnold found Jurin free on the right with the opportunity to push the ball low across the face of goal.

No Melita player this time could prevent the cross finding Nello Borges who turned the ball into the net before McPherson could get there.

The two sides entertained with non stop attacking movements during the first half and Croatia nearly extended their lead in the 15th minute when they were awarded a free kick in centre field. Lee Sterrey sent the ball into the box and Graham Arnold tried an excellent overhead kick which nudged the angle of the upright before going out of play.

Two minutes later it was Arnold again, receiving the ball in plenty of space on the right and aiming his shot low to the far post. McPherson managed to get his fingers to the ball and save the day once more.

In the 18th minute after Jurin had tangled with Tredinnick, a free kick on the edge of the box reached Arnold whose shot was saved by McPherson, but only as far as Arnold gave those follow up effort was headed off the line by Tredinnick.

Melita came back in the 29th minute with their best chance of the half when Wilson headed a Farrugia corner against the underside of the crossbar and the ball rebounded for Demanuele. His shot, right on target, unfortunately for the home side, struck Andriopoulos standing in the path of the goal.

Steve Meades who came on the Godzik (victim of an incident which left him with a fractured elbow) saw his shot, soon after taking the field, deflected by McPherson for a corner.

Arnold was out of luck again with the second half only 7 minutes old when his low shot was palmed away by the busy McPherson.

Soon after this Melita nearly equalised. A free kick left for Kenny Wilson was driven firmly by the tall defender only inches wide of the target after evading the six-man wall.

With Godzik missing in the last 46 minutes, Croatia seemed less effective in its

THE THOUGHTS OF CHAIRMAN RON....

The NSL as an elite, 12-team league; the National Cup as a pre-season competition; no break in the season like we had this year with the World Series tournament; and a pat on the back for coach Les Scheinflug.

They're some of the thoughts of Marconi chairman Ron Cavagnino.

His committee's enormous task this year was to bring in about $350,000 to the Marconi coffers. Club Marconi slashed its annual grant to the soccer team to $50,000 and it takes about $400,000 to maintain Marconi's status in National League ranks.

But things may change next year, if Cavagnino has his way. He aims to give just one soccer representative on the board of directors of Club Marconi, rather than five and if the members agree, then he'll be that representative.

"That's what I'll be pushing for and hopefully I'll be the man responsible for the soccer side of things," said Cavagnino.

Cavagnino, with the consent of his fellow soccer committee directors, was responsible for bringing Scheinflug back to Marconi. Officially, Scheinflug became coach of Marconi on January 1, this year.

"It was me who first got Les to Marconi way back in 1969. I convinced the committee that we should sign him from Prague for $3,000 and it was one of the best things we've done. Back in those days I think we had one ball and no money but Les quickly changed all that. He harnessed us into buying about 30 balls and he put professionalism into the team. We won the Second Division with Les. Unfortunately, we parted company after the 1970 season but we were lucky enough to get

We need an elite league

• Ron Cavagnino is in his first year as chairman of the soccer committee of Club Marconi. He's married, with a 10-year-old daughter and two-year-old son, and works as an official agent for NSW lotteries. Cavagnino was born in Italy and came to Australia when he was 8. He played Rugby League as a kid and admits to once thinking that "soccer was a game for sissies." He view changed when on a working holiday in 1965, he went to England and was entranced by the fervor and fanaticism of the fans at a Liverpool v West Ham game. On his return, he started following Marconi which was in Second Division, and has been involved with the club ever since. He spent four years on the board of directors of Club Marconi from 1972 and returned a couple of years ago. He was on the board of the soccer committee last year and became chairman of that committee in October, 1983.

him back for 1979 and 1980 before he became national coach.

"While Les was national coach (1981-84) we had four different coaches and that's just not the way you build a championship side. I know that Les is the man for the job. He's a winner."

Cavagnino switched his attention to the National League and here he echoed the thoughts of South Melbourne Hellas president Leo Anezakis when discussing the best possible NSL format.

"The present competition isn't strong enough because it has too many teams. I don't mean to be derogatory towards some of the clubs but let's be honest — a lot of National League teams simply don't want to improve. They just want to stay in the National League and that's not good enough.

"We need nothing but the best in the National League to get people to watch the games. We need the best six teams from the Australian Conference and the best six from the National Conference all playing against each other on a simple home-and-away basis in the one league. When we played Wollongong away from home there were about 150 people at the game. I believe that teams not strong enough financially and in terms of playing standard shouldn't be in the National League. Let them go into a Second Division with a regionalised format to cut travel costs, until they prove themselves."

But would an elite league bring back the fans?

"Yes, provided the standard of soccer is good enough. People want to see the best. We're in 1984 and people no longer will accept a low standard of entertainment."

Many soccer fans, including this writer, are dismayed to discover that after a gruelling league season, the teams finishing on top of the Australian and National Conferences receive no recognition this year as champion teams. Instead, there's to be a national finals series, a top five competition in both Conferences, run on the same finals format as in Rugby League and Australian Rules. Cavagnino likes the idea.

"The Australian sporting public doesn't really give a damn who finished on top. Reaching the grand final and winning it is all that counts in Australia. It's unique to this country and we, as soccer people, should accept that and follow suit. It's part of the Australian way. That's why we've brought in a final five competition and I think that it's a great idea."

The NSL format for 1985 isn't drastically different to the 1984 format, but Intra-Conference challenge games have been scrapped and not before time, according to Cavagnino.

"These Intra-Conference games were disastrous, and if I had my way we'd play the National Cup as a pre-season competition in March," he said.

"And we can't have any more interruptions to the league season like we had this year with the World Series games. That hurt a lot of clubs, including Marconi."

Cavagnino is confident that Marconi will play in the finals and go extremely well.

By ALEX VESIC

Oscar Michelini, a patriotic Italian, is the man responsible for the christening of Marconi in 1956.

Michelini, a founder member of the club, moved at the first general meeting that the club be named after Guglielmo Marconi, the famous Italian who invented the wireless.

The motion was quickly accepted by those at the meeting. The link with the famous inventor is still strong today, and the Marconi emblem displays a radio tower.

The name was confirmed on November 28, 1957, in the minutes of the meeting held in a small shed on a vacant piece of land in Trivett St, Horsley Park, it was noted: "Moved by Mr Michelini and seconded by Mr Fiorelli, that the name of the club — Club Marconi of Bosley Park Social Recreation and Sporting Centre Limited — be confirmed and that the name be the official name of the club all the time."

Oscar Michelini was also the man who headed the building sub-committee, which was responsible for supervising the construction of the first part of the building at a cost of $120,000. Other members of the committee were Mr C. Crestani, F. Zadro and Provino Sartor.

From a small and almost insignificant looking building, the shed rose into a magnificent edifice after an extension was carried out in the sixties. The new section of the club was opened on November 24, 1962.

Land surrounding the club was also bought, extending the club's ownership to more than 22 acres of land.

Some years later, Marconi Club succeeded with an application to the municipal council to change the name of Middle Rd to Marconi Road.

Only two years after the official opening of the club, a youth soccer team was formed. The first president was Felice Zadro, while the other promoters of the idea included Lorenzo Sartoretto, Luciano Morassut, Giuseppe Cassano, Angelo Cattarin and Dennis Munari.

In 1961, Antonio Fornasier became president of the youth club and also took the position of representative of Marconi soccer club in the Southern Districts Soccer Association. Armando Del Caro was the first coach of the side the same year and was largely responsible for the success of the team.

With Del Caro still in charge, Marconi became a member of the NSW Soccer Federation, leaving a team of juniors to represent Marconi in the Southern Districts Soccer Association.

Its first season in the NSWFL was highly successful. Marconi won the First Division amateur championship by eight points. It won also the Amateur Cup, beating none other than Sydney-Austral at Wentworth Park in front of 15,000 spectators!

The following year, Marconi appointed a new coach, Mario Danieli. The team managed to stay in the Second Division surviving a drop into the amateur ranks. Marconi managed to win the Coni Cup beating APIA reserves 2-0 at Marconi Oval.

Tiko Jolisevic, the highly successful Yugoslav player, came to coach Marconi in 1965, but could not save Marconi from dropping back to amateur ranks.

In 1966, the coaching position changed again, but this time Joe Vasary managed to bring the team back into the NSW-SF Second Division.

In 1967, Marconi soccer club became an independent body, completely detached from the Social Club taking the name of Marconi Southern Districts Soccer Football Club. The first president was Mr Joe Morizzi, while Luciano Marson became the first vice-president.

The club continued its good form and Mr Vasary was signed to continue as coach for another season. Fifth place in the competition was the club's most successful achievement in the Second Division.

Les Scheinflug decided to quit Prague and move to Marconi in 1969, certainly a move that started a new era at Bosley Park. Marconi won the Second Division championship (1970) and became a member of the First Division of the NSW-SF championships.

In 1972, under the coaching of Rale Rasic, Marconi won the

The others are: Frank Lebozzetta, real estate and travel agent; Terry Sartoretto, Charlie Licata and Frank Baroni, who all are building contractors. Licata's son, Rene, is in Marconi's first team squad and is a former national youth team player.

Charlie Licata and Baroni are responsible for promotion and fund raising activities while Lebozzetta and Sartoretto run the juniors.

Marconi's honorary secretary is Keith Charles, who has been involved in senior soccer for the past three years. He was involved with Marconi's juniors for five years before moving into senior administration. Charles took over as secretary in April, 1983.

challenge trophy against a star-studded St George-Budapest, to give Rasic his first success with the new club.

The following year, Rale Rasic managed to carry off the first major trophy for Marconi. In one of the most entertaining grand finals, Marconi defeated Hakoah to carry off the premiership trophy.

In the following three years, Marconi was always among the leaders, but had to battle with such giants of soccer as St George, Hakoah and PIA.

This proved a tall order for the Marconi team despite the presence of talented players as well as some of the most experienced men in soccer. Among the most notable players of the era were:

great coaches ending record

Les Scheinflug (Pregue, NSW, Australia), Johnny Glascometti (PIA), John Roche (Australia), Alfredo Moschen (Palermo, Lazio), George Kinnell (Sunderland, Juventus Melbourne, Western Suburbs), Alan Griffiths (Sutherland), Peter Wilson and Max Tolson (South Coast and Australia).

In 1977, the club entered the Philips League, the first national soccer competition in this country, and finished second on goal difference to Sydney-based Hakoah-Eastern Suburbs.

Rale Rasic, the coach of the very successful side in 1977, must still be having nightmares of that terrible day when Marconi was beaten in the first round by Adelaide Juventus 4-0. Marconi couldn't turn the tables on Adelaide City in a return match in Adelaide, while Hakoah managed to beat City twice that year.

So despite its great win over Hakoah (4-2) and a drawn game in their second encounter, Marconi couldn't match the goal difference missing out by four goals to win top spot.

In the Philips Cup, Marconi ousted the champions Eastern Suburbs-

Hakoah in the first round, showing once again its superiority over the team from Bondi. Marconi followed with a great win over Canberra City (5-1), then a memorable 3-2 win over Fitzroy in Melbourne despite two setbacks during the game.

In the final, Marconi had to travel to Brisbane to play Brisbane City. The game finished 1-1 and went into extra time. After the game was drawn, penalties were taken and the Brisbane team proved more successful. It was a sad end for the team that was twice successful against Brisbane City in the championship, winning 1-0 on both occasions!

The following year, Marconi bowed out in the first round of the Philips Cup and penalties were the cause of departure again! Beaten by the strongest NSW State League team, Croatia, Marconi now had only one goal — winning the Philips League.

Halfway through the championship, Marconi was miles in front of the second-placed team, and no one doubted the ability of Marconi to stay at the top but it was not to be the year.

Six points in front after 12 rounds, Marconi experienced the worst slump in its existence to finish fourth. In the top four competition, Marconi was soundly beaten by East-Hakoah in the Grand Final to finish off a bitter season for the Fairfield team.

But that experience was soon forgotten for in 1979, Marconi won the National League championship. It was a great year for the club. Coach Les Scheinflug won the soccer press association's Coach of the Year award, Ivo Prskalo was named Player of the Year, Eddie Krmovic was named under-21 Player of the Year, while Mark Jankovics and Peter Sharne, the "Fairfield Flyer", both were named in the National League Team of the Year.

Marconi won the championship by four points from Heidelberg Alexander and was to finish on top of the Melbourne-based club again the following year — this time in the final of the 1980 Philips Cup — but not before a nailbiting 0-0 draw in the final in Melbourne. The replay, at Marconi Stadium, saw the home team completely dominate the Victorians, running out comfortable 3-0 victors. Gary Byrne, Krmovic and Sharne were the scorers.

The Marconi team that night, with player ratings, was: Maher 8 — Prskalo 8 — Brogan 7, Muir 8, Henderson 8 — Cant 8, Byrne 8, Raskopoulos 7 — Sharne 8, Jankovics 8, Krmovic 8.

Marconi finished 4th in the league in 1980, slumped to 14th in 1981, its lowest ever NSL finish, 10th in 1983 then 9th last year.

Scheinflug: We'll be at our best in final five series

By CRAIG
MACKENZIE

"I'm getting quietly confident again because the team is coming good at the right time. I can feel it. Just let us get to the finals and you'll set a different Marconi — the real Marconi — the Marconi which will be respected by the best."

Les Scheinflug already has tasted success at Marconi so his optimism, approaching the national finals of the 1984 NSL, is based on experience.

"We can beat Sydney City. Our boys are big-game players and right now I'm concentrating on getting them mentally tough. We've got players who have played in front of 100,000 spectators, so they know what a big game atmosphere is like," said Scheinflug.

Even reaching the Australian Conference final of the top five series will be a great achievement for Scheinflug and his players, for the Marconi team, 1984 style, has a distinctly new look about it and it takes time to mould a championship side.

Should Marconi win the championship this year it will go a long way to erasing the memory of Scheinflug's sacking as national coach. But it won't completely blot Marconi coach Les Scheinflug is a legendary figure in Australian soccer. He captained the national team, scoring Australia's first ever goal in the World Cup final against North Korea in 1965, was assistant coach to Rale Rasic in 1974 when the Socceroos reached the World Cup final in West Germany, was assistant coach to Rudi Gutendorf and replaced Gutendorf as national coach in 1981. Under Scheinflug, the Socceroos won 14 games, drew 1 and lost five. For reasons best known to the ASF's World Cup committee, Scheinflug was sacked last March and Frank Arok appointed national coach. Scheinflug was born in Yugoslavia but went to Germany with his parents when he was two years old. He was 17 when he came to Australia and made his national team debut when he was 19. He played with Prague for 11 years and was captain-coach of Marconi in 1969 and 1970. His coaching record in the NSL is: 1977 — coached Brisbane Lions to 10th; 1978 — coached Adelaide City Juventus to 10th and beaten finalist in Philips Cup; 1979 — coached Marconi to NSL championship; 1980 — coached Marconi to 4th and won Philips Cup. He was appointed late last year for his third term as coach of Marconi.

out the pain that action brought to a man who had captained Australia, then coached it from 1981 until March, 1984, achieving some great results in the process.

"I took on the job with one major aim — to bring some credibility back to our national team and I really believe that I helped to bring credibility back to Australian soccer. Look at the youngsters I took to last year's World Youth Cup finals in Mexico. Almost every one of these lads now are established National League players.

"Look, don't get me wrong. I sincerely hope that the people in charge of the national team are successful and make it to the World Cup finals. But I hope that Frank Arok doesn't make the same mistake so many national coaches make and allow others to tell him which club or which country he should play against just because the ASF can arrange for that club or country to come here cheaply.

"Frank Arok has to stand up and tell the ASF which teams he wants to play against. He has to be allowed to map out his own program to prepare us for World Cup games.

"And while we're talking about the World Cup, let me say right here and now that I believe NZ will be up there again."

Okay, enough of the national team. Let's get back to Marconi. Why did Scheinflug take on the job late last year?

"I felt that there were some very good young players there and Marconi's a solid club which could give me the opportunity to work and to build. Also, I live about five minutes away from the club so it's virtually on my doorstep and travel isn't a problem.

"Ron Cavagnino (the chairman) is the man I mainly deal with and we get on just great together. He's doing an exceptionally fine job of running the club.

"All I said to Ron was that I would be very, very disappointed if we couldn't finish in the top five this year."

Well, it doesn't look like Scheinflug will be a disappointed man. Let's look at the 17 players in his first team squad, and his appraisal of them:

BRUCE JAMES (Goalkeeper): "Our most consistent player this year. He works harder than anyone else. Nothing is too much for him. Coming off his line, he has no peers and he's in the best two goalkeepers in Australia. He's good in the air and his reflexes are good."

PAUL CARTER (Defender): "One of the most promising defenders in the country. He's skilful and he overlaps well but, very importantly, his defensive qualities are good."

TONY HENDERSON (Midfielder or defender): "Very well known in Australian soccer. Tony's having a fine season. He's the captain and the real backbone of the side. I hope that in the next five or six weeks he proves to everyone that he should be back in the national team."

STEVE CALDERAN (Defender): "Very, very solid, a real all-round defender and a fine stopper. Excellent in the air. Steve's only 22 and believe me, we're all going to hear a lot more about him."

JOHN SPANOS (Utility): "A great team player and he's really fitted in well. We had to work on him a bit when we first got him from Heidelberg earlier this year because he wasn't fit enough but he's worked hard. He reads the game very well and is extremely versatile."

BERTIE MARIANI (Utility): "A good all-round player. Bertie's getting on a bit now and lacks a bit in pace but he can make up for that with quickness of mind. He's good in the air and a very, very solid player."

TOM MC CULLOCH (Midfielder): "This lad's got tons of ability and he's every bit as good as sweeper as he is in midfield. He's only 21 and he's a superb passer of a ball. He needs more experience, especially international experience but that will come. He's got a really, really great future."

CRAIG MASON (Midfielder): "He made a hell of a difference to the team when he joined us this year from Newcastle. He fitted in quickly and really stabilised things in midfield. He's a really solid player, who plays it simply but effectively and he's a very good passer of a ball."

MARK JANKOVICS (Midfielder or forward): "A top goal poacher. Mark's been playing above average this year and he's a player who can do a job for Marconi in years to come."

ROD BROWN (Forward): "We've yet to see the best of him. He's one of the quickest forwards in Australian soccer and he's very, very sharp. He's got two good feet and a fine shot and, of course, he's young, so I'm looking for big things in the future from him."

DAVID LOWE (Forward): "The type of player I really admire. A very intelligent player and an exceptionally good reader of the game. Look, I make no bones about it. If I was still national coach, then David Lowe would be in the senior national team. That's what I think of this lad."

RENE LICATA (Winger): "Rene hasn't lived up to expectations this year. His problem is that he lacks concentration. He flashes in and out of a game and shows some tremendous skills but he must concentrate and work very hard at his game for the full 90 minutes."

ATTILIO CARBONE (Utility): "A good utility player. I can play him up front or in midfield and he always does a job for us."

MARTIN DRUEN (Utility): "This kid has just turned 17 and let me tell you that he's one of the greatest prospects in Australian soccer right now! I've been bringing him along for the past six months and what a future he's got. He can play at the back, in midfield, or up front. He's an exceptional talent."

JOE RIZZOTTO (Defender): "One of the best tacklers in the game. It's a pity for him and for Marconi that he's been injured and although he started training last week I really believe that we'll have to get a second opinion on his injury because I think that he's going to need a cartilage operation. That's a blow, but if he has the operation soon, he can come back next season."

JOVAN DJORDJEVIC (Utility): "A big loss, due to cartilage and cruciate ligament problems. He's fast, skilful and very experienced. And he can play in a variety of positions. Just the sort of player every top team needs. We'll have to see how he gets over his injuries but if he recovers fully then he's the sort of player who can do an important job for Marconi."

Doves not down yet!

Morwell Falcons need just one point from Saturday's Selwyn Park clash with Albion Rovers to wrap up the 1984 State League championship while Doveton must beat St Albans Dinamo at Waratah Reserve on

By CRAIG MAC KENZIE

Sunday to cling onto its slender chance of avoiding relegation.

If the Doves win, and I think they will, they'll be just two points behind Dinamo with a much better goal difference. That means that the fate of Doveton and Dinamo will hinge on Doveton's postponed game against Croydon at Croydon Park and no doubt quite a few Croats will turn up to urge on Croydon that day.

The men Doveton fans will look to against Dinamo this Sunday are Jim Nelson, whose two goals against Knox last weekend earned him side a point; Graham Watson, who is giving good support to Nelson up front; and midfielders Matt McDonald, Billy Buchanan and Gerry Edmondson. Young Greg McLeod probably will be given the job of tagging Dinamo's leading scorer, Dennis Morovic, and McLeod has the height to match it with Morovic in the air.

Provided the Doves haven't prematurely given up the ghost and are revved up for this one, they'll do the job. Morwell should beat Albion. And it now seems certain that Falcons will replace Sunshine-George Cross in the National Conference next season. There has been doubt about Falcons' desire to enter the NSL but last Friday the club was granted a full licence and now feels that it can generate the kind of income needed to survive at the highest club level in the land.

Falcons seem certain to lose goalkeeper Bill Whiteside at the end of the season. It appears that Whiteside is tired of travelling and training requirements and feels that it's time he dropped down the leagues (like joining North Dandy in Metro First Division?). Anyway, what a great way to bow out — with a championship medal. And that's what will happen on Saturday at Selwyn.

If Albion defies the odds and wins, then Knox City better prepared for an all-out assault on its goal when it travels to Raleigh Reserve to meet second placed Polonia on Sunday Janusz Przybyla and Carl Gilder starred up front against Northcote last weekend while Joe Tront and George Petrov tore the Northerners apart in midfield. Polonia is the stronger outfit and seems certain to down Knox.

The latest rumor about Polonia coach John Gardiner is that he'll be wearing Green Gully's colors next year. We hear that Gardiner will be lining up as sweeper for Gully, linking up once more with Stuart Cancell at the heart of Gully's defence.

SATURDAY
FRANKSTON PINES v Western Suburbs at Monterey Boulevard, 3 pm.
BROADMEADOWS v RINGWOOD WILHELMINA at Laura Douglas Reserve, 3 pm.

SUNDAY
POLONIA v Knox City at Raleigh Reserve, 3 pm.
DOVETON v St Albans Dinamo at Waratah Reserve, 3 pm.
Box Hill v Fawkner (draw) at Wembley Park, 3 pm.
CROYDON v Northcote at Croydon Park, 3 pm.

Czapnik to bow out, Polonia slams in seven

By MICK MITTEN

Polonia 7 Northcote 1

Scorers: Przybyla 20th, 65th, 83rd, Gilder 2nd and 22nd, Petrov 40th, Tront 69th (Polonia); Constantinou 59th (Northcote).

Venue: Raleigh Reserve.
Polonia led 3-0 after 22 minutes and it was no contest. In fact, had Polonia finished better it easily could have reached double figures.

But seven goals aren't bad for 90 minutes work. And how fitting that his deluge should come on an afternoon when Polonia officials honored Andrew Czapnik, in his 17th season with the club, by making a presentation to him before the match. Czapnik will retire at the end of the season. He's easily Polonia's longest serving player in history and his outstanding service to the club is a feat which looks unlikely to be matched.

Believe it or not, Polonia's culprit in the finishing department was star striker Janusz Przybyla who blew a great chance here to all but wrap up the VSF Travel award for the leading scorer in the 1984 State League. Okay, Przybyla got a hat-trick to take him to just one goal behind Box Hill star Steve Smith but Przybyla missed from two one-on-one situations against George Arfanakos and the Polish striker rarely misses chances like these.

Apart from the goal spree, another feature of this game was the refereeing and linesmanship. Przybyla was given offside when inside his defensive half of the field. That was poor linesmanship. But referee Lou Hemmes also erred by ignoring the linesman's flag in the 65th minute when Przybyla, clearly offside, scored Polonia's fifth goal.

But the handling of the game best was summed up when a goal-kick by Stefan Mula found a Polonia player ruled offside! Now come on. Offside from a goalkick! I suppose it was some consolation when referee Hemmes allowed Mula to retake the kick.

But don't think that referee Hemmes is the worst referee in State League. Far from it. Here he was let down by his linesmen.

But onto the goals.
Good work by Przybyla and Mirek Smolarek in the 2nd minute put George Petrov in the clear. Petrov's cross found George Bozakis completely missing with an attempt to clear and an elated Carl Gilder turned and smacked the ball into the far corner to make it 1-0.

Polonia's second goal was a gem. It came in the 20th minute and involved a series of delightful one-touch moves.

Gilder played the ball to Przybyla who played it to Joe Tront. Petrov, out wide, was put in possession by Tront and the youngster knocked the ball back into Przybyla who rolled it on the edge of the six yard line.

Northcote hardly had time to blink before Polonia posted goal number three. Petrov won the ball and played it inside to Przybyla who sent Gilder clear and front the edge of the Northcote area. Gilder cracked a low shot into the far corner.

Petrov won the ball from Colin Quigley wide on the left in the 40th minute, played it inside to Przybyla, who touched it back to Petrov. With a defender moving to try and cover Gilder, Petrov charged down the middle and from 15 metres out let fly with a firm, low shot and his outstanding service to the club is a feat which looks unlikely to be matched.

Northcote hit back in the 59th minute. A Quigley cross from the left was headed back neatly by Mike Micevski to Peter Constantinou whose first time volley sent the ball whistling past Mike Lukac and into the far corner for a fine goal.

This stung Polonia back into action.
Six minutes later a long kick-out by Lukac was headed on by Gilder to Przybyla who raced clear then struck the ball into the far corner to make it 5-1.

Tront took matters into his own hands in the 69th minute when he won the ball in midfield, broke forward, and with players making off-the-ball runs on either side, he hammered his shot into the bottom left hand corner of goal from outside the area.

The avalanche ended in the 83rd minute. Przybyla and Gilder played a one-two with Przybyla racing clear then thumping the ball past Arfanakos into the far corner to make it 7-1.

Waverley 6-a-side

Waverley City presents the 12th annual charity six-a-side to be held on the weekend of November 3 and 4.

Teams will be playing for the Joe McHugh Perpetual Trophy and nearly $1000 in prize money.

This year again the competition will be held to help the Royal Children's Hospital Appeal.

The Waverley six-a-side is the largest held in Victoria and the only one which helps to raise money for charity.

Anyone requiring information can do so by phoning Eric Richardson on 25 3410 or the co-ordinator, Paul Webster, on 534 2409.

Teams will play in eight groups of four on the Saturday, the top two going through, and four groups of four on the Sunday, the top team from each group going into the semi-finals.

Also on the Sunday, eight under-18 teams will be playing in a mini-comp in between the senior games.

Games are 10 minutes each way except for the semi-finals and final which are 15 minutes each way.

Last year's finalists were Doveton and Ringwood Wilhelmina with Doveton winning 4-3 after extra time.

The Waverley council has finished Waverley's new social rooms and dressing room complex and when the finishing touches to the ground are completed, the complex will compare favourably with the best. This year Waverley had three players in the senior side who, between them, had given 41 years service to the club: Ted Quay (15 years and 315 games); Paul Storey (13 years and 300 games); and Alec Wilson (13 years and 272 games).

Smale best at Kew

Andy Smale, for the second year running, won the best and fairest award for the seniors at Metro First Division club Kew.

Smale polled 94 votes. Mark Krasven, who joined Kew from Box Hill, was second with 82 votes. Ron Conway was third with 64 votes.

Tod Mylas, with 74 votes won the reserves best and fairest.

Kew's annual dinner dance will be held this Friday at the Stoke House in St. Kilda. Tickets are $90 a double. For further information contact Jim Gorman at work on 268 2154 or home on 20 8584.

Watch out for Serbia

Ringwood United Serbia's president, Branko Jevtic is adamant that the club will be better prepared for the start of the 1985 season than it was for the 1984 season.

After losing practically the whole of last year's team of experienced players, Ringwood had a poor start this year collecting only six points from the first 10 matches.

However, under new coach Ken Kontra and with players of the calibre of Peter Vaughan, Alex Nelson, Ljubic Stojanovic, Jimmy Mills, Rudi Droessler, Tony Gilmour, Mark Bunce and Billy Ross, Bailey guiding the younger players, Ringwood collected 18 points in Metro Division 2.

Ringwood is keen to recruit about four experienced players and intends to retain all of this year's senior squad to ensure a smoother and more successful passage through next season.

Youngsters who have shown good potential this year and should improve further after a year's experience with the senior squad are: Slav Milanovic, Orlam Demir, Mickey Djuric, Lubisa Bosancic, Mick Sedlarovic, Milan Stevanovic, Mark Bunce and Billy Ross.

Interested players, who want to be part of Ringwood's campaign for promotion next year, should ring Branko Jevtic on 080 5847 (A.H.) or Ken Kontra on 725 5392 (A.H.).

MURRAY'S MEN ON THE HUNT FOR CUP GLORY

St. Albans 1
Box Hill 1

Scorers: Smith 20th pen, Morovic 34th pen.
Venue: Churchill Reserve.

The championship battle has been lost but Box Hill is keen to bring silverware to its club rooms and will be making all-out bids for the Dockery Cup and State League Cup in the coming weeks.

That was the loud warning at the end of this match from Box Hill coach Billy Murray, who also shed some light into future plans for himself and the Hillmen.

"We're out to prove we're a side to be reckoned with in the Cups and I certainly believe we can go all the way in either competition," Murray said.

"We lost our way a little in the league — and decisions from referees like this afternoon certainly haven't helped us — but the season is far from over yet and we've got plenty to play for."

Murray was a little coy talking about his own plans for next year, saying only that he has had preliminary talks with Box Hill officials and doesn't as yet know whether he will be staying on.

But by the way he talked so enthusiastically about the seemingly unending supply of juniors coming through the ranks at Box Hill and who he plans to promote into the senior team soon, one was given every indication that the quiet achiever has got his heart tied to the club.

"Steve Smith was denied the right sort of service from the midfield today but we have already taken steps to rectify that and have already set in motion plans to bring out former Welsh youth international Chris Taylor, a 22-year-old, who has given service to Wrexham in the English League.

"And there are two very exciting youngsters to come up to the senior ranks for next year should we lose any of our senior players.

"One is Zdravko Basic who is still only 16 but is showing up really well and will be pushing hard for a regular fullback spot next year.

"And Craig Davidson has already had limited senior experience in the back line and has a lot of ability."

Meanwhile, the draw at Churchill Reserve practically assured St. Albans of State League safety since Broad-meadows lost the following day at Western Suburbs.

One had to feel sorry for referee Sam Zoumas in this match.

He made a brave — and correct — decision to award Box Hill a penalty in the 20th minute.

Dinamo goalkeeper Milovan Debeljuh made a real meal of a 50-50 challenge on him by nuggety Hill midfielder Rafael Underwood and continued to demonstrate with the player even after he collected the ball safely, pushing Zoumas to point to the penalty spot.

Dinamo coach Joe Spoljar did not argue against the decision and gave his goalkeeper a piece of his mind at half time to prove the point.

But St. Albans supporters — and in particular a committee member who ought to know better — gave Zoumas hell from then on and the referee had to contend with that pressure for the rest of the game, especially since Steve Smith made no mistake from the resultant penalty kick.

As it turned out, it was Box Hill which came off worse following the penalty decision and there were claims that a penalty awarded to Dinamo only 14 minutes later for a challenge by keeper John McKinlay on Dennis Morovic was "level" at best.

Morovic picked himself from the tussle to slot the penalty away to level the scores while McKinlay sustained a knee injury and struggled from then on even though he did see the match out.

Late in the game, Box Hill had claims for a second penalty when Smith was bundled off the ball after he had turned a Dinamo defender but Zoumas didn't award a penalty.

Dinamo was far from outclassed in this encounter, however, and in actual fact created the best scoring move of the game when an intelligent through ball from Branko Culina put Ned Batonic in the clear only for the midfielder to waste all the good work with a weak finishing shot which even went wide of the target.

BOWLES CUP

Mooroolbark will stage the 9th annual "William Bowles" carnival for the under 11 age group on Saturday and Sunday, October 6 and 7.

The annual competition is held in the memory of the late Mr. W. Bowles who was an ardent fan of the game and the Mooroolbark soccer club. The Bowles family donated the perpetual trophy awarded to the winning team.

There is also an award for sportsmanship and conduct given to the best behaved team on the Saturday, as judged by the referees.

Twenty under 11 teams from all over the Melbourne area will compete. This year teams are coming also from Bendigo and Shepparton.

ASF no to Craig

Liverpool's Craig Johnston cannot play for the Socceroos, according to the Australian Soccer Federation.

Speculation has been running rife that Johnston, currently in Australia waiting for his wife to give birth to their first child, could be called on by national coach Frank Ark to play for the Socceroos.

But ASF executive director Brian Emery confirmed that Johnston had twice played for the England Under 21 side he could not play for Australia.

The rules of FIFA state that a player who has represented one country at under 21 level or above is not eligible to play for any other country.

"We trust that once and for all this wild speculation that Johnston can play for Australia," Emery said.

KURT DIES

Kurt Goettlicher, who started with Richmond, St. Albans and Footscray J.U.S.T., died last Friday at the age of 46.

He was a member of the German team that won the junior version of the Victorian Laddie World Cup in 1957.

A highly talented forward, Goettlicher returned to West Germany after playing for St. Albans, Richmond and J.U.S.T., and had stints there with Karlsruhe and Union Bockingen before coming back to Australia and once more playing with Richmond and St. Albans.

He ended his career in 1966 due to illness.

Auburn Uruguay had a fine season in the NSW State League this year but will financial trouble force the club to fold?

Is this the end for Auburn?

Auburn-Uruguay finished a very creditable third in the club championship for 1984. All three grades finished fifth in their respective competitions and each just missed out on the play-off series.

A very fine effort indeed, for a side that struggled to remain in the State League last year and a credit to its coaching staff as well as the players.

However, not all is well on the home front for this famous NSW outfit.

While the club administrators are heaping praise on senior coach Ljubo Gokovic and his ability to build a team around just a few players who remained from last season's squad, there was some dissatisfaction amongst them regarding this year's merger with the Uruguayan community.

"It was nothing short of a dismal failure," said the club's long standing secretary

Fred Parker. "The promise of crowd support and sponsorship money never eventuated. We had great hopes and we believed all the promises given to us, but they never came to fruition," added the Auburn secretary.

To look at Auburn's success on the field and its five 0-1 losses as well as four 0-0 draws, games which Auburn could so easily have won had its inept forward line played with a tiny bit more composure, is to realise that the team could have challenged for top spot.

Like most clubs, Auburn is having difficulties to sustain a soccer team in the State League with a budget of $50,000 a year needed. When the expected help did not arrive from its Uruguayan partner, the Auburn-Uruguay committee sat down and decided to cut the players' wages.

Players were brought to the club and told of the situation, with the result that only $20 a week will be paid to each one till the end of the current season and should the club be lucky enough to run into some money then the players will benefit. All the players were shown the open door and could go to any other club or remain with the side.

The character of the players shone through and all decided to stay.

NSW State League with ALEX VESIC

However, there is a big question mark as to whether the club can continue next year. According to its secretary the club is looking for a sponsor, but few options are open.

"We could merge with another interested party, be sold or cease operating," said Mr Parker this week.

"It would be a shame to lose so much after such a wonderful effort in 1984. We have one of the best coaches in the country, a playing staff which did us proud and facilities better than most in our competition. It would be almost criminal to give it all away — not to mention the club colours, very dear to me and to all Australians — green and gold."

Monaro marches into Grand Final

Inter Monaro 2 Rockdale 1

Scorers: Valeri 27th, 65th pen; Brown 64th.
Venue: St George Stadium.

Rockdale Ilinden will have to front this week at the Gabbie to face Manly Warringah for the right to challenge Inter Monaro in the Grand Final to be played at Marconi Stadium in two week's time. But it could have been all so different...

Walter Valeri put Inter Monaro 1-0 up at half time, then Ross Brown equalised midway through the second stanza.

Inter came back almost within a minute to snatch the winner through a disputed penalty.

Four new games for Roos' world tour?

Two matches in Italy and one each in Greece and Yugoslavia are set to be added to the Socceroos itinerary for their November-December world tour.

Australian soccer Federation marketing manager Peter Sheehan said that the games would be sandwiched in between a match in Holland on November 20 and the final game against England B at St James Park in Newcastle on December 5.

Sheehan said: "The delay in finalising the schedule is purely one of fitting to European club schedules at a time when leagues, European Cup competitions and internationals are all well on the go."

"Fortunately we can obtain a weekend match in Italy because the national team is playing and league fixtures have been suspended."

"With the Greek and Yugoslav clubs it is purely a matter of getting them to finalise the contracts."

On present indications the Socceroos tour will be the best ever organised.

National coach Frank Arkov wants some lesser games to be interspersed with tough ones so that up-and-coming squad members can receive the right baptism to the international scene.

He views the object of the entire exercise as one of obtaining vigorous European experience. Australia will have to play against one European nation to qualify for the 1986 World Cup finals in Mexico if it can win its way through the Oceania zone preliminaries.

The portion of the tour itinerary finalised to date was announced by ASF executive director Brian Emery.

It is: Nov 3 v China A, Nov 5 v China B both at Beijing (Peking), Nov 11 v Shanghai at Shanghai, Nov 14 v Canton at Canton, Nov 14 v Manchester City, Nov 16 v Nottingham Forest, Nov 18 v Glasgow Rangers, Nov 20 v Ajax Amsterdam.

The matches in Glasgow and Nottingham have an exciting flavour.

Australian International David Mitchell has won favour with Rangers manager Jock Wallace and has started the 1984-85 season as a first team squad member.

South Melbourne Hellas defender Alan Davidson has won a rewarding contract with Nottingham Forest and will join the club before the Australian party arrives in England.

National coach Arkov pointed out that he already has two expatriate Australians in Mitchell and Eddie Krncevic under close observation.

He said: "Mitchell certainly does not have to be introduced to our squad as he was a valued member during the games here in June."

"I am keen to get an update on the form of striker Eddie Krncevic, who is now with Duisburg."

"I was in Europe when he transferred from Yugoslavia to West Germany. It was a big money deal and brought huge interest from the Germans."

"He is already an Australian national team player, and it was quite clear to me that he was likely to be a huge success."

Billy Wilcox would have done his chances for the 1984 Oscars a ton of good and the referee had no hesitation in pointing to the spot.

What prompted the referee to have that penalty re-taken remains a mystery since the shot by Valeri went straight at the keeper who put his arms up to push the shot over the bar. One would have understood referee Doneau had he asked for the kick to be retaken if the keeper moved early but surely not for being in the middle of his goal palming the ball over the bar for a corner kick!

Valeri made sure with his second kick and in the end that was the kick that decided the issue.

Inter Monaro certainly had some fine performers on the day with Valeri, Giampaolo and Dnestrov leading the way, while Ambrosino and Hocking showed great composure under pressure at the back.

Tony Brennan's form continues to be a puzzle, while Billy Wilcox, apart from his brilliant bite in the 65th, did very little in midfield.

Inter had some bright moments during this match. Its first goal came soon after a brilliant move by Giampaolo in the 26th, but Giampaolo's cross eluded many as it flew low across the box. Only a minute later, Valeri took a stroll through the weak Rockdale defence to plant one past Kotzohambos and give Inter its lead.

Wilcox found the side netting in the 55th, then Giampaolo headed just wide soon after the restart, and Monteroso broke through twice in the closing stages of the game but to no avail.

Rockdale Ilinden had some good openings and star striker Ross Brown could have helped himself to a goal or two. Slavski's free kick in the 5th minute grazed the crossbar as the first half but some good anticipation by Angelo Ambrosino saved Inter. Brown's shot was cleared off the line by Ambrosino.

With seven minutes to go in the first period, it was time for Michael Hocking to get into the act as Risteviski found Terry Jones inside the box. But there was the Inter keeper diving bravely at the feet of Jones to save.

Harry Williams deflected a shot by Brown over the bar in the 58th then came the two quick goals in the 64th and 65th minutes.

Brown equalised with a fine shot from the edge of the box then came Wilcox's performance which gave Inter its lead.

I know that all this may sound a trifle strong. However, for those who stood on the terraces it wasn't at all amusing and should Rockdale beat Manly this week and qualify for the Grand Final there is one advice I would like to offer to those who administer the game in NSW. Give better protection to players and officials!

LA JUVENTUS TROPPO SFORTUNATA

La venticinquesima giornata del campionato di Lega Nazionale ha prodotto una serie di risultati che non hanno affatto diminuito l'interesse nei rimanenti tre turni della competizione poiche' la corsa la corsa all'importante quinto posto e' rimasta quanto mai aperta in tutte e due i gironi.

Nel girone "nazionale" (Melbourne, Brisbane e Adelaide) rimane ancora un interrogativo su che finira' in cima

VIVA ITALIA.

with ROCKY DI ZIO

alla classica, e' stata pero' risolta la retrocessione che sicuramente toccherà al George Cross.

Nel girone "australiano" (Sydney, Canberra e N.S.W.) e' ancora tutto da risolvere: la battaglia per il primo posto e' nettamente a favore del Sydney City, ma i quattro punti che lo separano dal

Sydney Olympic non rappresentano la certezza matematica, specialmente in vista dell'incontro diretto fra le due squadre per la partita conclusiva di "challenge"; la lotta per il quinto posto e' ancora molto aperta a ben sei squadre che si trovano raggruppate in classifica con un solo punto di differenza, il che significa che in teoria ognuna di queste squadre ha la possibilità di finire quinta, e il pericolo di venire retrocesso.

Poiche' la retrocessione sono candidate soltanto le squadre di Sydney, il Wollongong che occupa il fanalino di coda con ben undici punti di distacco dalla penultima, può dormire sonni tranquilli, dalla penultima (Newcastle Rosobud con 23 punti) alla quinta (Melita Eagles con 24 punti) tutto 3 per cento: naturalmente non si debbono preoccupare della retrocessione nemmeno Newcastle e Canberra, ma e' sicuramente insolito che tante squadre possano ambire al quinto posto ed allo stesso tempo essere in pericolo di retrocedere.

Le prossime tre settimane vedranno quindi tutta una serie di partite all'ultimo sangue che avranno un peso determinante nel futuro di tante squadre.

E' innegabile che questa situazione di massimo interesse fino alle ultimissime battute del campionato e' da ascrivere in massima parte ai "challenge rounds", la novita' assoluta di quest'anno, che hanno livellato i valori in campo evitando così la possibilità di enormi distacchi in classifica che uccidono l'interesse della competizione con diverse settimane di anticipo sul calendario.

Ma ormai, come tutto sappiamo purtroppo, i "challenge rounds" sono stati aboliti per il prossimo campionato, anche se dietro considerazioni di una certa validita'. E' persino tra i giocatori che si constata che sperimenti riusciti, come e' stato appunto quello dei "challenge rounds", vengono abbandonati per lo stato di balneazione amministrativa in cui si trova il calcio australiano.

E' innegabile che alcuni problemi sono affiorati nell'organizzazione del "challenge rounds" fra squadre dei due gironi al punto che l'ultimo di questi in programma alcune settimane fa fu abolito e rimpiazzato con un "challenge round" fra squadre dello stesso girone, cio' e' successo principalmente per la scelta dei campi in cui si svolgevano le partite, una scelta a dir poco infelice che ha spesso visto squadre con un buon pubblico spedito a giocare fuori casa di fronte ad una sparuta platea.

Si trattava quindi di dover apportare delle piccole variazioni per sfruttare al massimo l'interesse di queste partite, ma il concetto era indubbiamente ottimo. Peccato che non c'è stata abbastanza costanza a perseverare in un sistema che aveva dato tutti i risultati sperati. Ma questo e' il calcio australiano del momento: uno sconsigliato arrabattarsi di gente che cambia, taglia, cancella e disorganizza con la insulsa motivazione di cercare di migliorare il calcio locale.

E' innegabile che il calcio, alla pari di quasi tutti gli altri sport, stia attraversando un periodo molto difficile ma alcune delle decisioni prese dagli enti responsabili negli ultimi tempi sembrano accelerare il processo di sfacelo invece di arrestarlo. Ma lasciamo a chi in autorita' il "diritto" di "non preoccuparsi" di queste cose.

Tornando al campionato di Lega Nazionale, uno dei risultati piu' bugiardi dell'anno e' stato senza dubbio quello che ha condannato la Juventus di Melbourne ad una sconfitta per 3-3 di fronte al Preston. Se alla fine della partita il risultato fosse stato esattamente il contrario, cioe' una vittoria della Juventus per 3-0, nessuno avrebbe potuto avere niente da ridire.

La Juventus ha praticamente fatto tutto da sola, ha commesso tre errori difensivi che, con una certa complicita' dell'arbitro, hanno fruttato tre reti agli avversari ed ha sviluppato gioco ed occasioni da rete da poter seppellire il portiere avversario sotto una valanga di gol.

Questo non vuol dire pero' che la squadra di Margaritis sia stata derubata, ma semplicemente rinforza la regola generale che le partite di calcio si vincono innanzitutto evitando di fare errori, secondariamente sfruttando le occasioni che si creano, e, alla fine, con una certa dose di fortuna.

Come e' innamancabilmente accaduto settimana dopo settimana negli ultimi mesi, la Juventus e' scesa in campo muovendosi con una formazione rimaneggiata a causa dell'assenza di Miranda (squalificato) e Brown (non utilizzabile secondo il regolamento). L'assenza di questi due aveva ridotto la squadra a dieci titolari in buone condizioni fisiche, poiche' sono sempre fuori i vari Vince Bannon, Incantalupo, Hird e Swinscoe, e le alternative che si offrivano all'allenatore per "fare undici" non erano della migliori: o un Rogers in precarie condizioni fisiche, oppure i giovani Menichello e Sagan. Il primo ha dalla sua una enorme esperienza e la capacita' di ricoprire un ruolo in difesa (il reparto) piu' colpito dalle forzate assenze di titolari) gli altri due mancano.

Quindi la scelta di Rogers e' stata praticamente inevitabile. Per di piu' l'assenza di Miranda ha costretto Margaritis ad avanzare Campbell nella posizione di regista del centrocampo. Il risultato e' stato che la difesa così rimaneggiata ha avuto in Rogers il suo punto debole (e nessuno può farne colpa al coraggioso capitano) con i difensori centrali, Dowie e Dransky che spesso hanno dovuto coprire anche il settore sinistro sbilanciando l'intera difesa; fortunatamente il rientrante Gernia sulla destra ha svolto un massacrante ed intelligente lavoro da tapabuchi.

Il nervosismo che regnava in difesa ha fatto dei brutti scherzi al portiere Martin che, oltre a spingere in rete il pallone che metteva in vantaggio il Preston dopo solo 18 minuti di gioco, si e' trovato in diverse situazioni imbarazzanti, anche se non estremamente pericolose. In avanti Zinni e Campbell hanno creato azioni su azioni e sono stati fortunati a non andare a rete direttamente, specialmente nel primo tempo, e a veder scupate le molte palle che hanno messo in zona di tiro per le punte Ward e Sweeney. Ma anche questi due hanno dato un apporto positivo alla partita, fortunatamente per loro e per la Juventus la cattiva sorte ha negato il successo, specialmente ad una magnifica girata a volo di Ward che e' andata a finire sull'interno del palo.

Considerando appunto che la Juventus giocava in formazione menomata, la sua condotta di gara e' stata eccellente ed avrebbe meritato maggior fortuna stando al valori espressi in campo. Gli altri giocatori della squadra hanno pero' offerto una pur minima consolazione alla Juventus. La sconfitta del JUST e del Green Gully le hanno dato respiro nella lotta per la quinta posizione che e' riuscita a conservare con due punti di vantaggio sulla squadra jugoslava, mentre la squadra maltese può considerarsi tagliata fuori.

Oltre alla Juventus possono legittimamente aspirare al quinto posto il JUST (che deve ancora incontrare Adelaide City e Preston), il Preston (che deve ancora incontrare il West Adelaide e il Preston); la Juventus da parte sua deve ancora vedersela con il George Cross e con il Croatia. Dopo queste due partite rimane l'ultimo challenge round il cui accoppiamento vera' deciso in base alla classifica dopo le partite di domenica prossima. Stando alle previsioni la Juventus dovrebbe battere il George Cross (ed arrivare a 28 punti), il Brisbane Lions dovrebbe perdere con l'Hellas (e rimanere a 26 punti), il JUST dovrebbe battere l'Adelaide City (ed arrivare a 26 punti), il Preston dovrebbe battere il West Adelaide (e salire a 25 punti); gli accoppiamenti per l'ultima partita sarebbero per lo Juventus-Croatia, Brisbane Lions-JUST, Preston-Green Gully.

Considerando che la Juventus ha due punti di vantaggio sulla sesta squadra e che tre delle candidate al quarto o quinto posto debbono incontrarsi fra di loro (Preston-JUST e Brisbane Lions-JUST), le possibilita' dei bianconeri sono abbastanza notevoli.

Bell Park's boys win championship

Bell Park Under-12s soccer team won the Western B division with a headed goal in the last minute against Mossfield making the score 3-3.

This league was one of the most keenly contested in Melbourne with three teams, West United, Mossfield and Bell Park in the running until nearly the end of the season.

At the start of this game Bell Park thought they had already won the league, but in fact they had to avoid defeat to do so, and Mossfield could have been champion had it won by six goals.

By half time, Mossfield had a lead of 3 goals to 1, so the second half was perhaps the most exciting 25 minutes of junior soccer seen in Geelong this year.

Scorers: Jamie Melrose (Mossfield) 2 minutes; Adrian Cervinski (Bell Park) 4 minutes; Stewart Craig (Mossfield) 16 minutes; Jamie Melrose (Mossfield) 19 minutes; Damian Bukobratovic (Bell Park) 29 minutes; Cedo Rakic (Bell Park) 50 minutes.

Shoulder plans to assemble the Merlion Cup squad in Sydney for a last-minute training camp before flying to Singapore for the tournament which starts on October 14.

"We will be playing five matches in 14 days in hot conditions and everyone will be expecting us to win the Oceania section," said Shoulder.

"After the Merlion Cup, the full Youth team will go to Mexico next January for the Havelange Cup which will be the final test for the players."

Merlion Cup squad

The senior players are goalkeeper Tony Franken (Canberra) who was the sensation of the national B squad during the international series this year; Frank Farina (Canberra) who played for Australia A in that series but has been injured since; Mike O'Shea (St. George) and Richard Miranda (Juventus), also of the B squad; stopper Ray Vlestra (Wollongong) who played in the 1983 World Youth Championships, and left back Howard Tredinnick of Melita Eagles.

The youth squad members are: Chris Kalantzis (Sydney Olympic), John Panagis (West Adelaide Hellas), John Kanesoulis (South Melbourne Hellas), John Gregson (Wollongong), Aki Kotziamichalis (Springvale), Warren Spink, Sean Ingham, Andrew Bernall, Robert Hooker, Paul Jones (A.I.S.)

One more senior player is yet to be added.

Australia won the inaugural Merlion Cup in 1982 and defended it successfully last year.

Its opponents this time are: Iraq, South Korea, Thailand, Singapore and representative selections from Argentina, Chile and Holland.

Jim Shoulder regards the Merlion Cup as an essential part of the long-term plan to prepare Australia for the Oceania qualifying rounds of the 1985 World Youth championships next February.

Australia will battle against New Zealand, Israel, Papua New Guinea, Fiji and Chinese Taipei, probably in Sydney, with the winner qualifying direct into the finals in Chile in October.

Beitzel defends Soccerpools

It's amazing what some people can do in juggling figures to suit their own particular line of argument.

The NSW Minister for Finance, Mr Debus, in a Sydney paper grabbed the headline "Soccer Pools give worst return" when defending the payout on State lotteries and Lotto.

Mr Debus said the payout on conventional lotteries in NSW averaged 64 per cent, there was a 63 per cent payout on instant lotteries and 60 per cent on Lotto.

He was quoted as saying the worst return in NSW was on Soccer Pools at 37 per cent — a figure which was set ten years ago by the then Liberal Government at the introduction of Pools and which has tied subsequent governments ever since.

But there are a lot of figures the Minister did not get around to quoting about the Pools and about the overall benefit which has been given to sport in general from the people who have taken part in the Pools game.

Australian Soccerpools spokesman Harry Beitzel was quick to point out that the various Governments take a total of 25 per cent of the Pools money for government purposes — which is a fraction under one-third of the total income.

Agents claim another 10 per cent, 15 per cent goes on royalties, 37 per cent in prize money and 19 per cent on administration, expenses and overhead.

And if you're in the mood for

By TED SIMMONS

statistics, let's examine the following figures of what has happened in financial return since the Pools began in Victoria in October 1974.

In the 10-year period the Pools have been operating, a total of $105,512,905 has gone into Government coffers throughout Australia. Of this total, NSW gained $51,698,321, Queensland $29,844,527, Victoria $17,651,998, Tasmania $3,273,801 and South Australia $2,956,022.

"We have had a total income of $346 million in that decade and it is now developing into a hard fight to keep it up," said Beitzel.

Pools punters have decreased in recent years following the introduction of Lotto. Instant Lotteries and other legalised gambling in NSW and Tassielotto in Victoria, and Lotto in Queensland.

In fact, Tassielotto is running at a turnover of about $500 million a year in Victoria, compared with less than $1 million nationwide for the Pools.

The 32.5 per cent taken by the Governments is the highest figure paid in soft gambling to any Government in Australia," Beitzel said.

However, the Governments are said to use the money. Some use it on sport — all sport — while some put it into consolidated revenue. On the average, governments allocate two thirds of the Pools money to sport.

"That is a pretty big contribution to general sport around Australia," said Beitzel.

"Therefore soccer supports many other sports, some in opposition to it, throughout the year and in some cases doesn't even get anything back to help soccer.

But many of the Governments do give grants to soccer to assist in coaching clinics, school programs, administration and sometimes facilities. In fact, it has been reported that the new Breynelle Stand at the Sydney Cricket Ground was built with money from the Soccer Pools.

Australian Soccerpools is a private company and is faced with the multiple problems which plague private business in today's economic struggle. But a Government-run scheme can be met from Consolidated revenue if the public response is only lukewarm.

Beitzel said the Pools could immediately increase payouts to 50 per cent if they added the cost of the agent's commission separate to the ticket which is the practice adopted by the NSW Government.

As it is now, the agent commission is included in the price for Pools tickets and is paid by the head company.

In real terms, there is not that much difference in the payouts if we could adopt some of the practices used by the other organisations. Pools actually have been averaging 40 per cent payouts over the past couple of years," said Beitzel.

What would be even more interesting would be the breakdown of figures of the various State Governments of the percentage amount ploughed back into soccer in comparison with other sports.

"PLAVI" SE ISPISALI IZ PE-TORKE

Cudnim situacijem okolnosti, iako je od zadnjih 4 prvenstvenih utakmica izgubio tri, JUST je jos uvek kandidat za petorku. Kako sada stoji stvar mozda ce za peto mesto pritrati da se bori u zadnjem kolu protiv Juventusa, koji mu bez dva boda.

Ne zabrinjavaju toliko JUST ovi porazi koliko slaba forma skoro celog tima, koji deluje umorno jer nema inspiraciju. Kakva je to inspiracija za bilo koji tim kada primi gol bez veze u prvom minutu igre kao da su dva sa poljanceta?

Eto tako su poceli "plavi" protiv lutog rivala Croatije. Nije udo sto im zamit klecaju kolena ostalih 90 minuta. Cak i kad ne igra kao sto treba Croatiji su sigurni bodovi protiv JUST a, kao da se na njih preplavilo. Poslije u stara dobra vremena kada je bilo obratno. Od cetiri susreta sa Croatijom u ovoj godini samo jedan se završio nerešeno i to onda kada je Boland nadmasio sebe. Zato se prosle nedelje nije mogao prepoznati. Primio je jefin gol i demoralisao citav tim na samom početku igre. Kada je Joe Carroll izjednačio u 55. primio se svima da je prosia kriza, ali bila je to varljiva nada. Bez dobre sredine JUST ne moze daleko da dogura, narocito protiv stabilnih protivnika i kad su oni van forme kao sto je sada slucaj sa Croatijom.

Do "iver ne pada daleko od klade" pokazala je igra mladog tima, koga je Croatia pregazila sa 3:0 i izbacila ga iz lige za prvo mesto, koje je nekoliko puta imao u rukama. Ono sto je JUST prokockao na jednoj utakmici moćice da povrati na sedee, ako ih sve dobije. U fudbalu je sve moguće, pa ne treba nikad poloziť ozruje do poslednje bitke.

Sledeci protivnik JUST a je Adelaide City na Schintler Reserve u Footscray. Da bi se produzila nada neophodna je poreda protiv tradicionalno neugodnog protivnika. Sudi Sam Zoumas, a pomociću si mu L. Hemmes i J. Santa Isabel. U predigri se sastaju mladi timovi JUST a i Nunawading Citya.

PREPORODJENA MAKE-DOJNJA

Za razliku od prosle godine, kada je posustala u završnici, Makedonija je ove godine razigrala pred kraj prvenstva. Poreda od 3:0 nad Juventusom postignuta je u sampionskom stilu posle odiseje igre celog tima, a narocito srednjeg reda. Zaigrao je, istina svega 20 minuta, i Zarko Odzakov, sto mnogo zna za ostatak utakmica, kada se bude resavala sudbina petog mesta na tabeli. Nacionalne konterenci je Makedonija zaostaje tri boda, sto nije nepremostiva razlika ako se poredjuje bez prestanka.

U nedelju 23. septembra Makedonija gostuje u Adelaideu u najboljem sastavu. Ovu utakmicu sudi lokalni sudija J. Rossis. Igra se na Hindmarsh Stadium, a poce-tak je u 2.30 po podne po lokalnom vremenu.

ZAOSTALE UTAKMICE

Ringwood Utd./SRBija — North Geelong 3 (2:0) 1. Gosti su radi prestiza zapeli da osvoje oba boda, ali je na kraju dobio bolji tim. Ringwood/Srbija se sa ovom pobedom popela na samo mesto je osvojila ukupno 24 boda. Strelci: Ljuba Stojanovic 2 i Peter Vaughan iz jedanaesterca u zadnjem minutu ove uzbuđujuće utakmice. Najbolji igrači: William Ross, Rudi Dreessler i Alex Nelson.

IZNENADJENJA U METROPOLITAN KUPU

Od tri nasa kluba, koja se ostala u osmini finala Metro kupa, očekivalo se da ce najbolje proci Altona Gate/Var-DAR. Na zalost, Vardar nas je najviše razočarao, jer je eliminisan na svom terenu od drugazrednog Mordioloca, koji je pobedio sa 1:0. Tako je pre vremena otišao na dugacki odmor.

Ugodno iznenađenje napravili su ostali klubovi, koji su se plasirali u četvrtfinalu Metro kupa sa sledecim pobedama:

Springvale Utd. — Doncaster Rovers 3:2 (2:0) Strelci: Milan Stojilovic 2 i Cane Velovski 1. "Plavi" iz Springvale nisu dali pet para sto su gosti završili na petom mestu prve divizione, vec su preuzeli igru u svoje ruke od prvog minuta. Pobedu su obezbedili u prvom poluvremenu, ali su pred kraj popustili zbog umora i povreda.

Zreb jos nije objavljen za cervrt-finale, ali zna se da su "PLAVI" domacin Melbourne/Hugariji, koja je pobedila Altonu City sa 6:1, a prvenstvo prve divizione završila na visokom rangovanom mestu. Kao sto smo ranije objavili "Plavi" iz Springvale su završili prvenstvo na drugom mestu cetvrt metropolitanske divizione i sledeće godine igraju u trecioj divizioni.

Lalor/SLOGA — Yarraville 2:0 (1:0) Strelci: Tom Tasevski i Dino Josevski. Sloga je glatko i ubedljivo izbacila iz daljeg takmicenja za Metro kup sampiona cetvrt divizione. Pobeda nije dolazila u pitanje ni jednog trenutka. Mogla je biti samo veca da je bilo vise sportske sreće. Pre odlaska na odmor igrači Sloga tri puta su pogodile stativne i preku, a zrelit sansi bilo je jos toliko.

Sastav Lalor/Sloga: Momcilo Trajkovski, Nik Morohovitis, Viktor Stojanovski (Toni Jolevski od 80. minuta), Boge kralovski, Riste Nivevski, George Josevski, Toni Josevski, Viktor Koulinis, Cini Moulia, Tom Tasevski, Dino Josevski. Rezerve: Zoran Jakijevski i Riste Morihovitis.

U subotu 22. septembra Lalor/SLOGA igra u četvrtfinalu Metro Kupa protiv Sumburya na Langama Park, Mitchells Lane.

PASCOE VALE TRAZI DRUGU KRUNU

Pascoe Vale/PELISTER — St. Kilda/Hakoah 4:1 (2:0) Strelci: Boris Cosic, Dusko Nivevski i autogol. Igraci Pelistera jos se nisu otrezneli od prvog uspeha posle 18 godina, a vec sanjaju da osvoje i Pro-vizionalni kup u istoj sezoni.

Sastav pelistera: Steve Maracato, George Karayandis, Nikola Lazarevski (Toni Sta-topoulos), Zlatko Cvetanovski, Mirko Dzanovski (Peter Naudovski), Danny McLaughlin, Sam Valentino, Dusko Nivevski, Boris Cosic, John Benalla.

U subotu 22. septembra u četvrtfinalu Provizionalnog kupa Pelister igra protiv proslogodisnjeg pobednika Clarinda. Igraci se osvoje trecu mesto u prvog provizionalnog divizioni. Utakmica se igra na Grange Reserve, Osborne Ave., Clayton South. Mi. 79 E.8.

Altona/VOJVODINA — Bal-larat 1:2 (1:1) Vojvodina je pocela vrlo dobro, ali je u 12. minutu zaradila bez potrebe jedanaesterac, koji je doveo u vodjstvo goste. Nisu se dugo davali, jer je Adam Miller izjednačio u 14. minutu. Posle toga igra se prenela u protiv-nicku polovinu, gde su sasse prosto plakale, trazeći di ih neko iskoristi. Medjutim, protivnicka mreza bila je zacarana. Cak i topovski udarac Pavla Oraveca sa 5 metara, goman gostiju je skrenuo u kornar ispod same prečke. Zato su gosti iz prvog prodora u 70. minutu podeli sa 2:1 zahvaljujuci nesporazumu u od-brani Vojvodine, koja se us-pavala. Zadnjih 10 minuta gol gostiju je bio pravom opsa-dom, ali ni to nije donelo pro-menu rezultata.

Sastav Vojvodine: Stan Peska, George Korozic, Valjko Dupor, Jovan Cankovic (Dobre Dimovski od 75. minuta), Steve Vojna, Pavle Oravec, Aleks Micevski, Adam Miller, Paul Gallo, Slobodan Dimitrije-vski. Rezerve: Miki Krstin i John Sklenar.

Najbolji igrači: Steve Vojna, Slobodan Dimitrijevi-ki i Stan Peska.

Tradicionalni turnir Altona/Vojvodine odrzace se 20/21 oktobra. Pozvano je 10 klubova, medju njima proslogodisnji pobednik Dallas City.

REZERVNI KUP

Abbotsford — Central City/CRVENA ZVEZDA 1:2 u produzetku od 30 minuta. U regularnom vremenu utak-mica se završila nerešeno 1:1 (1:1) Strelci: Nikola Radunovic i Mile Jovanovic. Najbolji igrači: Emil Petrov, Edi Krt i Zoran Rokсандic.

U četvrtfinalu 22. septembra Zvezda je gost Monash Univerziteta.

Brunswick — Carlton/MLADOST 0:1 (0:0) Strelac: Vastav Pitra. Najbolji igrači: Dance Smurgrevski, Kiri Lav-canski i Zdenko Jovic.

INDUSTRIJSKA LIGA

altona/ILINDEN — Riv-ersdale 6:1 (3:0) Strelci: Cane Mencevski, Kole Mlade-novski, Lazo Lazarevski po 2 gola. Igra se jos jedno kolo do kraja prvenstva i lindenu je dovoljan neresen rezultat da osvoji prvo mesto u drugoj In-dustrijskoj divizioni.

U nedelju 23. septembra lindeni je gost naseg kluba Whitehouse Beranci na Low-alde Drive Reserve, Epping. My 182 E.11. Utakmica po-cinje u 10 pre podne.

Oakleigh City (ex Tarax) — Apollo United 0:1

Parker by two

By WALTER PLESS

It won't be long before NSL clubs are beating their way to Ian Parker's door yet again. The Caledonians striker scored four goals in a 7-4 win over Metro-Claremont in the second last match of the Tasmanian league season.

Parker went into the game a goal behind Rapid's Billy Kirkpatrick, knowing that Kirkpatrick would be playing in the evening's second match of the double-header. Calies were 2-4 down early in the second half but a hat-trick by Parker saw his side end up just out of the 'top four'.

Parker scored 18 goals this season to equal his effort last year, when he was level with Olympia's Perry Forster. Kirkpatrick scored an ex-
